Your Teenager Can't Find a Job? Then Read This

If your high school age son or daughter can't find a temporary job this summer, it won't be because a lot of people haven't been working on the problem.

For the Lafayette, Orinda area youngsters, discussion will be held today about the possibility of moving the state employment office from St. Mary's College to downtown Lafayette, a more "central" location.

For Walnut Creek area jobseekers, the Walnut Creek Rotarians will coordinate their placement efforts with the staffs of Las Lomas and Del Valle high schools.

REGISTRATION for Walnut Creek jobs may be made at the high schools in the near future.

And just as important, homeowners with odd jobs available and employers needing some help will be asked (even pleaded with!) to call high schools.

The phone numbers to call will be announced soon.

Preliminary analysis by a number of influential local residents is that the problem in the Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga and surrounding areas are to find the youngsters for the jobs.

MANY JOBS seem to be available, but often the boys and girls have not been interested. "I understand they usually want the glamor jobs. It's a matter of education," said one woman who has been active in local efforts.

However, in Walnut Creek, there is usually no shortage of young applicants — only a shortage of jobs. The big task in that area may be to find enough office help, gardening, babysitting and other jobs to go around.

As matters stood April 21, when the Sun ran an editorial, "Our Youngsters Could Use Some Help . . . ", the state employment department offices at the Walnut Creek city hall and at St. Mary's were ready to try to assist in finding summer jobs for high school, college students and adults.

But no separate student-oriented program, especially for high schoolers, was planned.

THEN MRS. CLEO Fuller of Walnut Creek, former Mt. Diablo Council PTA president, and Mrs. E. W. Paulson of Lafayette, executive secretary of the World Aid, Inc., Berkeley, began inquiries about forming their own "central" group for finding teenage jobs.

Mrs. Fuller talked with Jack Flannery, head of the state employment department office in Pittsburg and Walnut Creek, and she also went to Sacramento.

Mrs. Paulson talked with many Lafayette people, and contacted Mrs. Marjorie Walker, head of the state employment office in Berkeley.

Mrs. Fuller was more interested in launching a study which would indicate how local residents could best tackle the problem on a long-range basis.

MRS. PAULSON was concerned primarily with getting jobs for children this summer. And she also talked about organizing her own group.

Then, after a meeting last Saturday in the Sun office, attended by a state employment department representative, things began to jell.

It has turned out that instead of a "central" agency, this year, Walnut Creek area will do things its way, and Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga will try another method.

To handle employment of boys and girls at Acalanes and Miramonte high schools, college-age students and others, a suggestion will be made at today's meeting to move the state employment department office from St. Mary's College to downtown Lafayette.

THE MEETING will begin at 2 p.m. in the county Home Builders Association building at 3462 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

Mrs. Walker of the Berkeley state employment office, who has charge of the St. Mary's office, will be present.

Also expected are Lee Schell, new president of the Lafayette Rotary Club; Vern Odegard, chairman of the Lafayette chamber's education committee; Chuck Johnson, chamber manager; Charlotte Price of the St. Mary's College office; Mrs. Paulson, also a representative of the Sun, and others.

What the community residents might do to help if the office is moved may also be discussed.

MEMBERS of the Lafayette Rotary Club are also considering the possibility of making teen employment a year-round project, with initial research beginning in the fall.

Plans of Mrs. Fuller to hold a discussion meeting this weekend in Walnut Creek came to a halt when she learned that the Walnut Creek Rotarians are going "all out."

Roy Hjersman, Rotary committee chairman, said, "We are reactivating our program of two years ago.

"Our committee people will work with the high school staffs. Las Lomas will provide the telephone, take registrations and will take calls from prospective employers.

"AND I DON'T just mean merchants. I mean anybody in the area who has any sort of job to be done and is willing to pay to get it done.

"The Rotarians will take the registrations, the lists of available jobs, and will do the placement work.

"John Chamber of Las Lomas and Bruce Handley of Del Valle will be in charge at their schools," said Hjersman.

That it is not simple to form a teen employment group was learned by Mrs. Fuller, Mrs. Paulson and others when they sat down to talk it over last Saturday.

THEY GOT a lot of information from Milan Wight, a co-ordinator of the work experience education for the high schools of the Mt. Diablo Unified District.

Wight suggested careful consideration by the local people of some of the complications, such as child labor laws, long and short range objectives, two-hour jobs and summer-long jobs, competition between high school and college students, and adults, also working women and "moonlighters."

Yes, You Can Help Keep Taxes Down

AN EDITORIAL

A subscriber recently wrote The Sun and asked if we were interested in the problem of high taxes and increasing property assessments.

This woman was simply worried about the entire problem of ever increasing taxes and consequently reflects the attitude of virtually every homeowner and resident of Contra Costa County (If you don't own your own home high tax rates are generally reflected in rent.)

As a result of climbing taxes, many, many people have become increasingly upset. We are pretty upset, too, and have been for years.

AND FOR YEARS we have been asking people to do something about it, because there is something that can be done.

It should be pointed out, first, that those residents who are now concerned over their increased property assessed valuation that this does not necessarily mean an increase in your actual tax bill.

In fact, it could mean a holding-of-the line or even a decrease if the proper action is taken.

There are many things that an alert, aroused citizenry can do to keep the tax rate within bounds. So, let's be specific.

FIRST, WE'VE GOT to get mad and stay mad long enough to do the job. And The Sun pointed this out in an editorial only two weeks ago.

The biggest part of our tax dollar, by far, goes to the operation and maintenance of special districts. These are the districts that provide us with necessary or desired services, such as school, fire, sanitary, water and even recreation districts.

Somebody from each improvement club and homeowners' association should attend the budget sessions of these special districts and make sure that the budget stays within the proper limits.

With an increased assessed valuation, a special district that levies the same tax rate as it did last year, per $100 assessed valuation, will find that it has a great deal more money to spend.

IF THE ASSESSED valuation is increased, the tax rate for special districts should go down unless the budget is increased. It is up to us to see that the special districts that serve us prepare a tight budget that doesn't require as high a tax rate as existed before large segments of property were reassessed upwards.

Similarly, is is the job of the County Board of Supervisors to see that the budget of each department within the county government is pared to a minimum. This is the only way that we can keep the costs of county government in line.

We, as residents, can do something about taxes. We can make our voices heard through the newspaper, through letters to directors and supervisors when the occasion arises, and through personal contact.

And we can keep alert.

If you are still concerned about taxes, turn to the editorial page, second section, and look at some specific examples of what we can do.

Questions, Protests Pelt Assessors

Revamped Group To Study County Fire Consolidation

A recently-augmented Fire Advisory Committee met for the first time last night in Martinez to start a study on the possible consolidation of fire district within the central portion of Contra Costa County.

The Fire Advisory Committee ordinarily consists of 11 fire chiefs and fire district commissioners, but for the purpose of this study, the Board of Supervisors appointed nine additional members.

Councilman Robert A. Nelson of Walnut Creek and Harold Turner of 25 Los Banos Avenue, Walnut Creek, are two of the new members.

Bill Kimball of 1906 Helen Road, Pleasant Hill, was also appointed to the committee along with Councilman Donald Campbell of Concord.

The County Administrator's Office has suggested a 1959 report on fire protection in Contra Costa County for background use by the committee members.

A primary recommendation of this study is that the present fire districts of Bay Point (Port Chicago), Mt. Diablo, Mt. View, Central, Lafayette, Orinda, Danville, the western portion of Eastern (Moraga area), the Briones Park site and portions of Island (Martinez-Port Chicago vicinity) be merged into one County Fire Protection District.

Oil Hampers Work for Dam

Joe New hopes it never happens again. Striking oil that is.

This view seems rather unusual at first glance.

However, New is inspector for the EBMUD Briones Dam project.

He just wants to finish drilling a 3400-foot tunnel to be used as an outlet for water from the future dam.

DURING the drilling process recently several hundred feet in, a small oil pocket was tapped.

The "geographical oddball," according to New, was a complete surprise.

However, after some of the oil was partially pumped out and some of it allowed to drain away through the seams of the earth and the accompanying gases had dissipated, the drilling process commenced once again.

There's no time for oil when building a dam.

Resignations Indicated by Pool Group

Six members of the board of directors of the Sleepy Hollow Recreation Association, including board president, Palmer York, Jr., have indicated their intention of resigning from office.

Stating that he was "deeply disappointed" in the outcome of a general membership meeting held Monday night, York added, "There is a sizable group concerned, but an apparent lack of interest in kids.

"We feel that with 55 acres of land we are obligated to the community to use it in a constructive manner for Orinda youngsters."

YORK WAS referring to a plan for improvements to the Sleepy Hollow Pool area as it now exists, to include further recreational facilities for teens and adults.

According to York, a "minority group" has continually blocked the board in efforts to put the association on a more sound financial basis which would provide for enlargement and improvements, as well as maintenance.

York expressed concern for the Aquabears, the young swim club that has produced three Olympic swimmers, who, he said were "kicked out" of the pool. The Aquabears have used the pool for practice year-round.

Mrs. Lorena Louis, association secretary, told the Sun that the Aquabears had a year's contract and their use of the pool had not been a matter of board discussion at Monday's meeting.

THE PETITION for adoption of the improvement program was rejected Monday night by a vote of 202 to 37, according to the secretary.

She added, "We (referring to those opposed to the improvement program) do not feel that it was sound. We feel it needs further consideration and study before adoption.

"We have 'problem' land that requires a great deal of engineering and none of us wanted to jump into this program in the brief time of two months that it has been a matter of study and consideration."

Two presidents of the association have resigned this year. Spokesmen for the membership have said they believed the resignations were due to the presidents' desire for a strong board.

They also indicated that contrary to this thinking, the majority preferred to have the general membership vote in matters of capital improvement, rather than leaving it solely in the hands of the board of directors.

Dunklee, Wanaka Discuss Reassessment With 200

By JEAN JERNIGAN

"We do not control or establish the tax rate. Our job is to establish value," so stated C. L. Dunklee, county tax assessor, before a standing room only crowd of 200 Monday night in Orinda.

Dunklee, and his assistant, Fred Wanaka, spoke at a meeting of the civic affairs committee of the Orinda Association at the invitation of Harry Fledderman, committee chairman.

Fledderman planned the program when rumbles of protests came from many residents after they received letters in recent weeks from the assessor's office appraising them of their new assesment values.

THE COUNTY began its program of reassesment in 1955 and is now three fourths complete. Dunklee estimates it will be approximately two more years befor the entire county has been reassessed.

Dunklee told the crowd that their property had been assessed at 27 per cent of the conservative market value. To determine if a fair assessment figure was imposed, he told property owners to multiply the assessment figure by 3.7.

"If this total is not a fair figure," Dunklee said, "then come into the office and complain." Wanaka said the assessor's office hoped to close the field office located at 2717 North Main Street, Walnut Creek by today.

HOWEVER, it was not definitely determined. The telephone number there is YE 5-2625. When the field office closes in Walnut Creek property owners may call the office in Martinez, AC 8-3000 or go in person.

Wanaka explained that those protesting their assesment should first complain to the assessor's office. "It is quite possible if the complaint is justified a change can be made," he added. "If the property owner is not satisfied after talking with us, then he may file a formal protest petition with the county requesting a hearing before the Board of Supervisors. The petition must be notarized."

Wanaka told the property owners assembled Monday that about one in 20 complaints had resulted in a change of assessment. He said that an estimated 50 complaints a day had been received since the field office opened April 24. This figure reveals that out of close to 1000 complaints, only 47 have actually received a re-appraisal and new assessment figure.

"WE DON'T build assesments around the needs of the county or elections," Dunklee said. "We base them on value solely. This is the first time in years that there has been a uniform approach to values throughout the county. Explosive growth countywide has considerably raised land values."

Some of the questions asked Monday were: "Why do I have to have my protest notarized? Can I protest separate values, that is the land, but not the house, or vice versa? What procedure must I go through to obtain a copy of the worksheet the appraiser uses? Can I see a breakdown of the appraisal? How do you arrive at the figure of 27 per cent of conservative sale price? When will this happen again?"

TAKING TURNS in answering questions from the audience, Dunklee and Wanaka revealed the following facts:

The method of protesting is established by State Constitution and requires the protest to the board of supervisors be notarized. Wanaka further explained that the board would have neither the time nor the facilities to check on all statements of fact in the protest, and by having it notarized, the protestor must swear to the fact all statements are true.

The county assessor explained that it is possible to protest separate parts of the total assessment. Property owners may obtain a blank copy of the worksheet used by appraisers by writing to the assessor's office and asking for one.

PROPERTY owners may go to the assessor's office and see a breakdown of the assessment figures on their own property. The 27 per cent figure was reached roughly speaking, through the action of the state.

Wanaka explained that every third year the state takes a statewide sampling of assessed values. Then the state compares these figures with county assessment roles. The assessed value of the county must compare favorably with the figures of other counties.

A review of assessed values is planned for every five years throughout the county.

In reiterating the fact that the county assessor's office works within laws established by the State Constitution and Board of Equalization and is not responsible for the tax rate, Dunklee laid the responsibility for the tax rate directly at the feet of the audience.

"You," he said, "determine the tax rate by the way you vote for bonds, special districts, equipment for various protective departments, and how you vote for those responsible for state legislation."

Pity the Poor Tax Men!! They've 'Had It'

"Citizens Declare War on Tax Man" was the headline on a news story this week concerning an appearance of chief appraiser A. W. Glendinning befor 400 angry citizens in El Cerrito.

According to the report, Glendinning was subject to continuous jibes and heckling at a meeting which was finally postponed to Monday in the El Cerrito High School gym.

One man then quipped, "The gym is a good place, we'll come with our boxing gloves."

County Tax Assessor and his assistant Fred Wanaka fared considerably better when they appeared before 200 in Orinda Monday night. Said Wanaka the next day, "The people were more polite and better informed than many groups before which we have spoken."

Which just goes to prove that people in Orinda may get angry, but at least they do it politely!

Hats Off To...

Don Jesse, Pine Grove Teacher Extraordinaire

STENCIL A NAME on a director's chair, please, for Mr. Don Jesse, Pine Grove teacher extraordinaire, from his cast, crew and the appreciative audiences who have enjoyed the fruits of his most recent directional labors in a superlative little stage and talent show titled "The Roaring Twenties" featuring gems of characterization and sprinkled delightfully with comedy, costumes, singing and dancing.

MR. JESSE, whose leanings are toward the theater, arts and languages, has taught eighth grade at Pine Grove School for five years, believes in tempering his classroom instruction with a non-academic association with his young people; is a familiar sight on Saturdays, surrounded by students and having himself a busman's holiday as he organizes them for cross-country bike-hikes, orientation trips to San Francisco, etc.

The Harvard graduate (an AB in Eng. Lit. in '53), who calls New England his home and spent his early childhood in The Netherlands, will head a youth hosteling trip to Europe for Orinda youngsters in the summer of '62.

Skindiving, photography, collecting art, painting and a tank of tropical fish keep the bachelor-teacher busy—when he's not correcting papers or planning another outing for the kids.

Henry Loses Tower Struggle

Patrick Henry's request to establish a transmitting tower in an Orinda area was ruled out of order by the county district attorney Tuesday night.

Henry, who lives in Orinda and owns and manages KJAZ in Berkeley, petitioned the County Planning Commission for approval to establish a radio transmitting tower in the Oaks Springs subdivision on Lucille Way north of Knickerbocker Lane.

THE BOARD of adjustment had previously approved Henry's application. However, the improvement association of Oaks Springs appealed. The matter was then referred to the County Planning Commission.

The district attorney ruled Henry's application out of order as a result of a legal point brought up by one of the board members Tuesday.

Legally, such constructions as radio transmitting towers are not possible in a residential area.

School Trustees Decide Budget, Salaries, Monday

Orinda Union School District trustees will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss teacher salaries and the district budget for the fiscal year 1961-62.

Teachers have asked a 6 per cent increase in salary. Salaries approximate 60 to 70 per cent of the budget. The board deliberated both budget and teacher salaries at a board meeting May 8 and a decision is expected Monday.

Orinda residents concerned with both education and taxes are urged to attend Monday night's board meeting.

The Sociables

By MARIE MONAHAN

IT WAS A TURNABOUT on the tots of the Orinda Nursery School when their parents did the romping for a change Saturday night at the traditional dance held at Diablo Country Club.

Because of late arrivals anticipated from the cocktail parties that flourished beforehand, the fashion show, a funny & frivolous one, was happily postponed until after the cocktail hour so that all would be present & accounted for.

The local breezes fanned out before reaching Diablo & it was almost a summer evening with cocktails on the patio & a prevalence of bare brown shoulders on the lady guests.

THE GAY GAY SIXTIES w/a Naughty Nineties Theme set the pace for the decorations (a huge Dominoe Club-type canvas extended the length of the bandstand) as well as the hilarious fashion show . . . Ralph Hill did M.C. duties in his Rover Boy outfit, introduced his wife Pat, a 1920 vamp (How did THAT era get in here)?

Making her entrance in the Victorian version of a baby stroller was Holly Fitch smoking a cigar & looking like Baby Snooks in a long baby dress & lace ruffled bonnet. Her husband Tom, in a long nightshirt, pushed the perambulator around the country club floor w/waves of laughter echoing to the rafters.

TWO FOR THE SHOW: Genie & John Schlictman cake-walking on stage as a 1920 bride & groom (Say, this was a crazy mixed up dance!). Bill Rieger in grandpa's long underwear did a running pursuit of wife Gloria garbed in grandma's chemise & pantaloons.

Ah, here we are, back to the Gay 90's . . . w/some fine barber-shop harmony rendered by Messrs. Breuner, Mouser, Heard & Smith . . . Out in the big red-carpeted bar, the audience stood knee-deep n front of the smal lstage where banjo players Bill Platt, Hal Keenan, Vern Johnson & Dana Leavitt kept things lively . . . Jerry Pixley fascinated (he plays a mean guitar himself & sings w/a Tennessee-Dressy years ago, oevr the years has become an Anything Goes (in Bob McAdam, Nancy & Jim Dupuis . . .

The traditional nursery school dance which started out Very twang when the mood hits him . . .) Jerry & Lois were w/Phyllis & clothes) affair when it comes to what the ladies wore . . . This year the fashions were elegant. One guest remarked she was busy all evening just looking at the pretty party dresses strolling by.

TRES GAI Guests: Blonde Marg Smith (she's pres. of the Nursery School) stunning in crisp white linen . . . brunette Lois Roads in flame chiffon . . . Marty Hays & Arch Woodliffe having a whirl to Henry Gallagher's danceable tunes . . . Vivacious Jane Shutt silhouetted in a cocoa lace sheath . . . Blake & Joan Calder, the Bill Leonards, Myrtle Patterson & Maxine Laney.

The Funstens, the Douglasses, the Haafs, Bill Riegers & Hugh Riegers representing the well-known & prolific Rieger clan . . . Newcomers Barbara & John LeBerre . . . The Jim Danas, the George Hauers, Matt Hammonds, Jack & Nancy Van Dyne more in the merry mob of 600 . . .

Potluck & dinner parties will precede tomorrow night's Orinda Parents' Club Roarin gTwenties shebang at Orinda Motors Garage. . . . Doing a Charleston up to the door of the Bernard Frieses in the Hacienda Circle area will be the David Seaburys, Sam Ballards, Gordon Martins, Ross Carlocks, Jerry Pixleys, Jim Jacksons, Jack Paynes & the Bud Loughmans . . . MORE for the buffet-styled menu will be the Robert Knollins, Norm Millers, Jack Gilberts, Paul Wards & Robert Alvarezes who will go o nto the party & dance at "Hi-Jacker's Hideaway," the garage turned speakeasy in Orinda Vilage.

CONNIE & Robert Stein have invited Dr. & Mrs. John Hutchison, the Richards Hillises, Norm Sullbergs, William Stanaitises & the Russell Blairs to meet at their Claremont area home beforehand.

JOYCE & Joe Lipovac at their "Hernando's Hideaway" hilltop house on So. Trail will be greeting Edie & Bob McDowell, Jane & Al Martin, the Jerry Studleys, the Ren Partridges along w/out-of-town guests.

SHADES OF THE OLD ALGONQUIN . . . Dance Chairman Grace Spitzer, together w/her husband Dwain, will host an early round-table gathering fo rthe Dore Whites of WC, the Gilbert Fazzios & other out-of-town guests while Nick & Jeanette Daniloff will expect the "secret password" from the Micael Woodses, the Peter Eberlys & the William Reulhes when all turn up on their threshold for an early convival.

WE CAN IMAGINE that Peggy Carbone will give it the Betty-Boop or Fifi D'Orsay treatment when w/husband Mel she hails the James Jim Danas, the Reyn Partridges, the Kauno Olkkolas who are some expected at their Claremont-area home.

Parents' Club pres. Tom Buffalow & wife Jean will have the Harry Fleddermans, John Harbells, Clem Fords, Charles Merrells, Ted Rimers, Dwight Partells, Charles Lohses & Craig Bulls at their pre-dance party & there are scads more of these Get-Acquainted gatherings planned before the annual party which gets under way at 9, all in good spirits of the Roaring Twenties, an era when most of those attending were mere babes in arms.

LIGHTING candles in honor of the Orinda AAUW fifth birthday and annual Spring Luncheon May 24 at the Orinda Country Club are Mrs. Ellsworth Meteer, outgoing president, and Mrs. Richard Bartle, right, incoming president.

Pool Group Seeks to Change By-Law

Rumors that there is dissension between the board of directors and the membership of Orinda Park Pool are completely unfounded, according to George Anderson, board president.

Anderson explained that when any change in by-laws is sought, it is necessary to obtain by petition a two-thirds majority vote of the proprietary membershlp in acquiescence with the change.

In such a situation, Anderson continued, the board of directors must remain neutral. "It is our duty to furnish a roster of the membership to any member so requesting it for petition or any other purpose.

"THIS I have done," Anderson said, "but as far as my taking sides, or any board member taking sides, we can't. We must remain neutral."

Rumors of controversy arose from what the leader of the petitioners termed the effort of "a group of self-appointed volunteers to insure fair play." This group seeks to have the pool by-laws changed from barring all non-caucasian and non-white applicants to include those qualifying for membership regardless of race.

Joseph Spicer, chairman of the petition committee said, "We feel that any one qualified to live in the area should qualify to participate in the amenities.

"WE ARE not connected with any organized group," he continued. We are merely soliciting the thinking of the membership by circulating this petition.

"People have been disappointed," Spicer said, "because they have had house guests they could not bring to the pool." He mentioned AFS students, service men, adoptions and mixed marriages.

"We have a membership committee," Spicer added, "who screen all applicants. We should be able to trust this committee and we do, therefore we cannot see any just reason for the by-laws to include the clause they do. If a member is qualified, he is qualified."

SPICER said that a majority of members had already signed the petition and the committee is hopeful of obtaining the two-thirds majority prior to the next board meeting one June 13.

Anderson said that if the petition is presented to the board with the necessary two-thirds majority signatures, the board will then take the matter under advisement.

BOTH Spicer and Anderson acknowledged the proposed change in by-laws is a "touchy" subject. However, Anderson has stated his position as being neutral as a board member, and Spicer has said that he is interested in determining the thinking of the membership more than attempting to fore a change.

UP in his pasture, Chico, the horse belonging to Larryann Long, waits to welcome "Sheba," the new horse, of course, for Joanne Davidson . . . Come back, Little Sheba, so we can see how you look w/your ribbons & bows & the sign over the stablehouse saying "Welcome, Sheba." Which shows that Chico has a lot of good old-fashioned chivalry & horse sense!

KIBITZING on the sidewalk near T-Bones, tall John Barron & Robert Mark, John hailing us & handing us a card announcing that he's now joined the ranks of realtors & is officed in Orinda w/Peretti & Co.

Over at Byron Nelson's realtor office, Bill McElhinney (of local beauty shop fame) has found a place he can get away from The Women for awhile. He's joined the ranks, too.

AND THERE IN DOWN'S Interiors, ducky, you'll find Gina Lucas & dghtr. Janet holding down the fort (some fort!) for Joe & Jean Downs, who are following their for-tay & foraging foreign soil for more downright elegant furniture.

Orinda's threat to Tab Hunter, & we do mean that personable young man Bob Ellermeyer, who has been missing from his clerking duties at Lucky's, has been transferred out to the new Concord store & local Lucky's isn't the same place anymore!

Well, Dear Mothers . . . Have you recovered from Mother's Day? It's good it only comes once a year, says the gal who got at six ayem to bake a cake, put the ham in the oven, set the table for a deluxe family affair. Her sleepy-eyed son came into the kitchen at 8, tugged at his mother's apron & sternly ordered "Go back to bed, Mommy. Daddy & I want to bring you your breakfast . . ." By the time she got there, propped up w/pillows, surrounded by posies, she fell asleep over her coffee. Spilled the whole thing all over the bedding & had to make the bed fresh inside-out before her company came. Happy Mother's Day!

ONE GRANDMA, in whose honor a family picnic was being held, was whisked out to her daughter's Orinda home having offered to help w/the picnic preparations. By the time the picnic hamper was piled high w/potato salad, chocolate cake, etc., the rest of the puts, four of her own all pristinely pressed, rosey-cheeked & scrubbed (w/their dad Paul, too), waiting for the christening of their new baby Kathryn, born Apr. 28 (their fifth) to get under way Sunday afternoon at Santa Maria. The Berrigans, newcomers since Nov., live in the Sigworth's big green house atop Casa Veija.

MOTHER'S DAY CANDID: Dick Calhoun driving downhill from church Sunday, his little red car totem-poled w/tots, their legs & limbs dangling from all sides & was Mama Jane Calhoun home breakfasting in bed—or is she still visiting w/family in the mid-west? I don't know. I'm asking YOU!

OVERHEARD At Black's (re: Tomorrow night's Roaring Twenties Dance at Orinda Motors Garage): One attractive lady to another—"What are you wearing to the dance Saturday?" Other attractive lady—"Oh, I just sewed some fringe to the bottom of a black slip." First lady—"That must be SOME slip. None of MINE could go out in public!"

The party, to which you are ALL invited, promises to be the Bee's Knees, the Cat's Pajamas, and Oh, You Kid, kind of evening.

family arrived to caravan by car to a spot near Diablo.

GRANDMA took one look at the overloaded family wagons, the scrapping parents, the screaming kids . . . & smartly decided to stay home. The last they saw of her she was cheerfully waving them off w/a relieved look. Happy Mother's Day! (We know just how she felt . . . don't you?)

WHAT'S DOING
Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

A "rock factory" in which man, not Mother Nature runs things, has recently gone into operation. It belongs to Western Electric, the manufacturing branch of the Bell System, and the rocks produced are quartz crystals.

Thin slices of quartz crystal are used in several types of telephone equipment. While there's lots of natural quartz in the world, big crystals that can be sliced are scarce and expensive.

To get around this, Western Electric is using a unique process to "grow" large crystals from small, inexpensive pieces of quartz. The man-made crystals (above) cost a lot less than large, natural ones. And because they are more evenly shaped, twice as many usable slices can be cut from them.

Standard Steps in And the Gas War Suddenly Ends

It was great while it lasted but it looks like it's all over now.

This is the latest word on the three-month-old "gas war" that was a source of joy for the average motorist and the cause of much weeping by service station owners.

Standard Oil Company of California ordered a hike of 7 and 8 cents a gallon early in the week in an effort to break the "war" throughout the Bay Area.

The East Bay, San Francisco, Marin County and the Peninsula all were affected by the order.

Gas prices in the local area jumped to 29.9 cents for regular at all major stations.

Ethyl jumped to 32.9 after being as low as 24.9 at some major stations.

Regular had dropped to 21.9 cents at most major stations prior to the Standard ultimatum this week.

Independent stations which had held the line at 20.9 for regular hiked their price to 27.9 this week.

This was the third attempt in the past three weeks to end the war.

On the other occasions, major stations boosted the price to 24.9 or 25.9, but the raised prices lasted only a day or two when many stations refused to raise prices.

This latest boost seems to have the cooperation of all station owners.

Miss High School Show Is May 27

Capwell's, Walnut Creek will present its annual "Miss High School" fashion show on May 27 at 2:30 p.m. on the second floor.

There will be three junior class girls from each of the 12 local area high schools, making a total of 36 models participating in this popular event.

Young ladies who will model the latest teen and misses' fashions include the following:

ACALANES HIGH: Linda Bridges, Susy Norton, Bonnie Brekke; College Park High, Jan Weidner, Judy Solak, Barbara O'Brien; Las Lomas High, Kathleen Rohan, Lynne Allasia, Chloe Anne Cox.

Miramonte High, Cherri Romer, Tara Doty, Nancy Engelhard; Mt. Diablo High, Arleen Young, Maretta Skidmore, Sue Lisle; Pleasant Hill High, Donna Heibel, Pat Shaw, Diana Kientz; San Ramon High, Linda Hubbard, Cathie Cryer, Louise Nelson.

After the show the 12 finalists will be announced at an Open House Coke Party in the training rooms on the second floor.

These finalists—one girl from each school—will serve as members of Capwell's High School Board.

The board selection will be based on three parts—an interview, the modeling show and a popularity poll among the participants themselves.

REPRESENTATIVES from three Contra Costa County newspapers will serve as judges for the modeling event.

Music Festival Will Feature 600 Performers

The second annual Music Festival of the Acalanes Union High School District will feature 600 musicians next Thursday at tht Miramonte High gymnasium.

All four district schools will participate. The program will begin at 8 p.m.

Each of the schools—Acalanes, Las Lomas, Miramonte and Del Valle—will be represented by vocal and instrumental groups performing classic, religious and popular selections.

Final number will be highlighted by the Honor Band and Honor Chorus, each of 80 selected musicians. And in the grand finale, all 600 students will join talents in their offering.

Musical Didector Elvo D'Amante and Richard Hansen of Acalanes, Robert Griesman and James Schwartz of Las Lomas, Lawrence Anderson of Miramonte and Kenneth Tisdel of Del Valle, have been rehearsing their groups for weeks.

Students Harold Stephenson, Gailey Huff and Michael Dunkel will appear as a trumpet trio and David Hudson as baritone solo.

Because of limited seating facilities, attendance will be limited to holders of invitations.

Admission is free and invitations may be obtained from any member of a high school music group.

Four Local Students Named Phi Beta Kappas

Four local University of California students were named to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholarship society, recently.

The students are: Ann Rapport, a graduating senior majoring in English from Orinda; Martin William Halseth and Charles Edward Leach, both seniors from Walnut Creek, majoring in engineering, Elizabeth Bailey Ballachey, from Lafayette; she is a junior majoring in agriculture.

These students will be initiated into the Alpha chapter of the University of California at Berkeley May 22.

A total of 146 students will be so honored.

Only 4 Burglaries Reported in Week

It was a relatively calm week for sheriff's deputies in the Lafayette substation with only four burglaries reported in the past seven-day period.

The Lafayette Town Hall was broken into last weekend, but only a fire extinguisher was taken.

Clarence Betz discovered the break-in when he returned to the theater at Moraga Road and School Street about 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

The responsible persons broke a glass window at the side of the building to gain entry.

The Pacific Lumber and Fencing Company at 477 Railroad Avenue, Danville, was burglarized for the third time in five weeks Friday.

MORE THAN $200 in tools were taken from the company office. A $75 typewriter was also taken.

Paul Dergon reported the burglary when he discovered the rear door of the building had been pried open.

An electric drill saw, torch set and wrenches were taken in the burglary.

The Plaza Cleaners at 3537 Mt. Diablo Blvd., Lafayette, was burglarized last week when the owner stepped out of the store for a few minutes.

G. J. Spludd said when he came back the cash register was open. He told deputies that he thought he locked the door when he left, but no evidence of forced entry could be found.

Spludd didn't know how much was in the register at the time of the burglary.

Quick action by deputies avoided a possible burglary at the Medical Center, 233 Hartford Road, Danville.

DEPUTIES arrived at the building five minutes after they were notified that the burglar alarm had been set off in the building.

The responsible persons had removed four glass louvers to gain entrance to the office of Dr. Samuel Harris, the owner of the building. The alarm went off as the persons entered the office.

Auto parts worth approximately $150 were taken from the car of auto salesman George L. Spaulding of 1663 Barnett Circle, Lafayette, Monday.

I.V. Intermediate: Court

The judicial body of I.V. Intermediate is the student court. It consists of one student from each room as well as two representatives from the student council.

Next year when there will be more classes, there will be no members on court from the student council, but there will be one member of the court on the council.

When disciplinary action must be taken, green slips" are given. This is done by the faculty as well as the student council. Once filled out, the slips are given to Mr. Gaskell, who decides which cases to send to the court. The defendant is then summoned to come before the court on the Thursday following the date that he slip was given.

APPEARING before the court, the defendant is asked to come forward and state his name. He is then asked how he pleads. If the defendant pleads innocent, he is questioned until a conclusion of some sort is reached, or if necessary, he is asked to return the following Thursday when witnesses can be present.

If the defendant pleads guilty, there is a small amount of questioning and then he is temporarily excused. Later he is called back and receives his punishment. The severity of the sentence depends on the seriousness of the offense. If a case is too difficult or too serious, it is turned over to Mr. Gaskell and the faculty.

The philosophy behind having a student court instead of the faculty taking care of discipline is very simple. It is felt that if a student comes to be judged by his own classmates he will realize that the giving of green slips is not merely a contest of wits between the students and the faculty, but is a means of bettering our school. We are proud of I.V. and hope that the court will continue to function effectively to make I.V. the best school in the area. Reported by student Jill Winters.

Orinda: Citizenship

Orinda School is now giving special recognition to those students who display especially good citizenship. Each week every classroom elects the student whom they feel has been the best citizen of Orinda School for that week. Last week these students were eleced by their classmates: Room 1, Robin Picard; room 2, Lisa Kolbeck; room 3, Susan Haake; room 4, Pat Little; room 5, Forey Schoner; room 6, Collette Kersten; room 7, Engel Ford; room 8, Julian Ward; room 9, Kathleen Brannan; room 10, Storme Gilkey; room 11, Sally Hillis; room 12, Tony Stanaitis; room 13, Bruno Ruhland; room 14, Carolyn Desmond; room 15, Doug Merrell.

Hats Off To...

Cookie Lavagetto---His 'Twins' Have Changed

When Cookie Lavagetto of Orinda took over the helm of the down-trodden Washington Senators early in 1957 there weren't too many people who thought Cookie would last very long.

Chuck Dressen had just been fired for a slow start after miserable years in 1955 and 1956. Most people figured Cookie would finish out the year and then bow out to make way for a "better known" manager.

Cookie even admitted that he didn't want the job b,ut he was finally convinced to give it a try.

After two seasons in the league cellar, Cookie and the Senators jumped to fifth place last year. No one thought of letting him go.

This year as manager of the new Minnesota Twins, Cookie has his team in third place. No longer are the ex-Senators a team to be scoffed at. Cookie's boys have developed into a feared team in the American League.

Perhaps there won't be a pennant winner for the twin cities this year, but there could be one in the very near future.

And the manager who didn't even want the job will be at the helm when that day arrives.

K. J. Gibson Serves In 'Green Light'

Dances, Banquets, Senior Events Occupy Miramonte

BY SUSAN COX and CAROL PEDERSEN

Sponsored by the Orinda Woman's Club, The Debs of Miramonte High presented their annual dance recently. The Brazilian Room was filled with Miramonte students and out-of-town guests.

All danced to the music of Tom Brooks and the band, with extra entertainment from "The Four" singers. Party dresses and flowers on girls were clustered together in a picture of panoramic beauty.

Some of the fascinating Cinderellas with their Knights in Shining Armor were Glenna Clark and Bill Young, Gari Ann Hughs and Phil Stevens, Sharon Croci and Andy De grassi, Pam Dermit and Pete Yeddia, Karen Weatherbe and Bill Kent and still more, Lynn Bickerstaff and Josh Jensen, Roxie Smith and Pete Read, Sue Dagny Madison and Steve Schroeder, Dianne Krog and Ron Kooyman and many more.

HOMEMAKING classes at Miramonte displayed many articles of clothing at the "Hawaiian Holiday" fashion show recently. Frocks of all kinds were made by the girls for events graduation. Many summer suits and play clothes were also modeled by the girls who made them.

Judy Meyer Receives Pin

Gamma Phi's top scholar for the 1960-61 academic year, Judy Myer, Orinda, was awarded the "President's Scholarship Pin" established this year by the first three presidents of the alumni chapter of Gamma Phi Beta, national sorority at Arizona State College, Flagstaff.

A diamond pin was presented by Mrs. Orinn Compton, president of the alumni chapter in Flagstaff, at the annual "Smarty Party" dinner held this week for all members of Gamma Phi Beta who maintained a grade average of 2.0 or better.

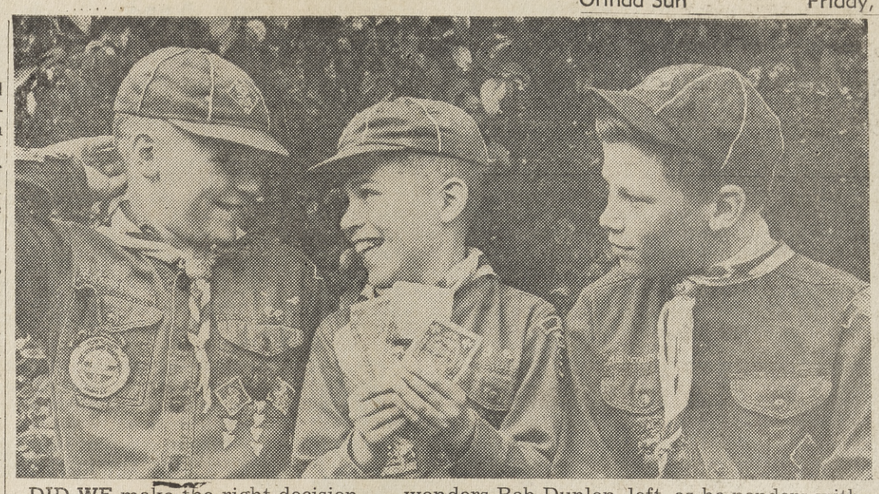
The senior supplement is moving ahead by leaps and bounds, but it needs your support. Barb Bergen was appointed editor, with Sue Kronke as her assistant editor. They realy need your help! Pictures of senior events would be nice to enter especially, for in years to come you could look back and see how much fun you really did have during your senior year.

The tryouts for the Senior Assembly looked quite promising this last week. Headed by Tom Brooks, the Senior Assembly will sure to be a big hit.

A new addition to the bowling team at Rheem Bowl is Dianna Hotchkiss and Dan Hawkley. Both are experts in this field!

ANOTHER date to remember is May 29, Senior Banquet, Japanese style. Girls should wear full dresses because the seating style is also Japanese. The theme for the Senior Banquet is exclusively Roman, June 3.

Elections for next year's officers are being held soon. Remember to vote for the candidate you think will be best suited for the job.



DID WE make the right decision . . . wonders Bob Dunlop, left, as he ponders with Allen Canale and Kent Madin over money they raised by selling tickets to the Scout-O-Rama. Webelos of Pack 57, the boys pooled their ticket selling efforts to provide a two week summer camp session for some deserving boy scout of the Mt. Diablo Council. They chose to claim individual prizes for the 127 tickets they sold. —Sun photo by Erwin Mattson.

This Area Receives Its 5000th Phone

Lafayette received its 5000th telephone April 21 when Pacific Telephone installers put in a new color telephone for Charlie Huft, Western Electric installation foreman, recently supervising the installation of new telephone equipment for the Lafayette area.

The recently completed single-story building, measuring about 106 by 74 feet, is on property near the Happy Valley Inn.

THE ENTIRE project, building and equipment, is expected to cost in excess of a million dollars and is designed to serve 10,000 telephones, according to H. C. Greenhalgh, local telephone manager.

The latest automatic telephone switching equipment and facilities for direct distance dialing service is currently being installed and is expected to be placed in service early in September.

PHONE COMPANY manager, Greenhalgh, went on to say that the 5000th phone installation is only one of several milestones 1961 is bringing in Lafayette telephone growth.

The telephone for Western Electric foreman, Huft, joins America's telephone "population" of more than 73,000,000. More than 60,000,000 of these phones are part of the Bell System, while the additional 13,000,000 are operated by some 3500 non-Bell System telephone companies.

THE NATION gains about 9000 telephones a day.

At the same time that Americans have been getting more telephones, they have been using them more. In 1950 the average person in this country placed fewer than 400 calls per year. Today he places more than 500.

Eagle Court Slated Thurs.

Boy Scouts of Post and Troop 24 will hold the annual family night potluck supper and Eagle Court of Honor on Thursday in the cafeteria at Acalanes High School.

Two seniors at Acalanes will be the recipients of the Eagle award. They are Bill Somerton and Keith Baldwin. Both have been in scouting since the age of eight when they became cub scouts.

Don Hoskins, Explorer Post advisor, will make the awards. Don Blackwood will give a talk on scouting and the meaning of the Eagle Award.

Plans for the coming months will also be discussed at the awards night. Explorer Scouts plan a bowling outing May 29. A gold field trip, post party and swimmer training courses are also on the June agenda, with all anticipating the Sierra summer hike.

The committee is seeking land for such a building, which would be made available to all scouts in the area. A building fund has already been established with funds earned by the troop and post.

Named to Board

Darwin Mann of Golden Gate Way in Lafayette will serve on the board of directors for the Christian Churches of Northern California and Western Nevada for 1961-62.

He attended the four-day convention of the group held in Fresno last weekend.

Pat High Scores Three Times

Last weekend Happy Valley School fourth grader Pat High scored three times in two AAU sponsored swim meets.

Saturday at Stanford University 10-year-old Pat was awarded third place medal in the 100-yard back stroke event for a time of 1:35.4.

In a swim meet Sunday in Los Altos she earned another third place medal in back stroke and a sixth place ribbon in breast stroke.

Pat had her original training while swimming for the Lafayette Youth Association.

She lives on Laurel Drive, Lafayette, with her parents, Gavin and Frances High.

School Board May Change Job Titles

Waterproof Your Children!

June 9, between the hours of 10 and 12, at Acalanes Union High School, the Lafayette Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a swim clinic free of charge to the general public.

The clinic is basically designed to teach parents the fundamental steps required in teaching a child to swim.

THE CLINIC will be run by professional swim instructors.

In charge of the clinic is Stanley Pedder, a Lafayette attorney and secretary of the Junior Chamber. He has taught swimming to children and adults both professionaly and recently as a hobby.

ASSISTING PEDDER will be James C. Small, a stock broker with F. I. DuPont in Oakland, who made the All-American swim team three years running when he attended the University of California, and also has vast teaching experience.

Miss Donna de Varona, the 14-year-old lass who swam for Uncle Sam in the 1960 Rome Olympics, will conclude the instruction with a swim exhibition.

PRINTED instruction programs will be circulated so that the fundamentals learned in the water can be readily recalled when needed. All participants are requested to bring swim suits and their own towels. Dressing rooms are available.

Carroll Weber Will Replace Martin Tucker

Martin Tucker, who has served in the position of curriculum consultant for the Lafayette School District for the past year, submitted his resignation to the governing board of the District at their April 10 meeting.

Tucker was for five years the principal of the Lafayette Elementary School and is widely known throughout the community and schools of Lafayette for his work with curriculum and parent groups.

He has accepted a position with the Danville Elementary Schools as director of educational services, and the good wishes of the personnel of the Lafayette District go with him as he takes up this new assignment, according to W. B. Ellis.

Carroll Weber was appointed to fill the position of curriculum consultant at the meeting of the governing board on April 24. Weber has taught sixth grade at Springhill School this past year. A 1942 graduate of the University of Missouri, Weber received his M.A. from the University of California and has done graduate work at Chico State and San Jose State colleges.

Before coming to Lafayette in September, 1960, Weber served as educational television consultant to a committee of 14 county superintendents working with Channel 9 in Sacramento.

Go to Church Sunday

Christian Science

Unchanging beauty is a theme of the lesson-sermon "Soul and Body" to be read at all Christian Science churches Sunday.

Included in the Bible selections will be these verses from Psalm 90: "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

One of the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (pp. 247, 248): "The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony."

Christian Science churches are located at 22 Orinda Highway, Orinda; 1437 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, and at the corner of Grant and Park Streets, Concord.

Board Will See Finalists for Job Of Superintendent

Official announcement by the school board of the superintendent for the Moraga School District is expected June 1.

Twenty-five candidates are being screened for the position by the screening committee now.

The school board will review and interview a finalist list of five tomorrow.

AT MONDAY night's meeting, Ira Ralston, of Stanford School Planning, gave an oral report of recommendations for the Moraga district.

A written report will be made to the board at the June 5 meeting.

Ralston recommended to the board the following:

THE RHEEM and Cabino Pablo schools should be completed to capacity, which in both cases would be approximately 638.

At present Rheem is constructed to one-half its capacity, 319, although 407 children are attending classes there. Double sessions are in force.

Ralston also told the board that site acquisition for school number three should be made within the next year in the Ivy Drive area.

HE STATED a program also should be begun of site acquisition to meet the next four years' needs.

Also, he suggested the old Moraga School could be used as a district office.

The teachers' salary committee decided to wait on salary proposals until the adjoining districts announced their salary schedules.

THE MORAGA School Board has a stated policy of paying Moraga teachers equivalent wages to those in adjoining districts.

Enthusiastic Youngsters Study French Privately

Exposure to the French language last summer at Springhill's summer school session created so much enthusiasm for foreign language study that a group of youngsters expressed the desire to continue their study of French.

Recognizing the value of early exposure to a foreign language, Jack Schneider of 3354 Springhill Road, determined to see that the youngsters had the opportunity of continuing their study.

Schneider obtained the services of Mrs. Joe Connery, who taught the children during the summer and organized two classes which meet every Wednesday afternoon at his home.

Youngsters eight and older meet directly after school at 2 p.m. Mrs. Connery, who was reared in France, teaches the little ones French songs and simple conversational phrases.

An older group of 12-year-old youngsters meet at the Schneider home at 3 p.m. following their regular classes at Springhill. The classes began last fall, averaging about six students to a class.

Schneider hopes to continue the classes indefinitely. Both his own youngsters, Glenn, 12 and Betty, 8, are enthusiastic members of the class.

Summer Is a Comin' Area Buzzes With Motion

YOU CAN tell it is nearly summer time by the many and various animals being brought home by the children.

Or at least this means summer at our house.

At present we have Sally the Salamander, Lizzabelle the lizard, Frisky, a tree frog, Mutt and Jeff, two tadpole frogs, and now two mice, a white and a tan one, promptly named Marshmallow and Ginger.

Then, of course, there is our old standby, Captain, the dog.

Something has got to go.

I imagine the reptiles will be the first.

SPEAKING of summer the summer Rheem School program is complete with nine teachers.

They are Ruth Freitas, Spanish and creative writing; Ardis Breslauer, French, enrichment reading and creative writing; Gene Kennedy, typing, enrichment reading and remedia reading; Emil Carlsen, science (Carlsen is head of the science department at Fairview in Lafayette); Jo Ann Fox, arts and crafts, three through seven; Pat Freitas, P.E., three through seven; Mary Stella Posinelli, first and second arts and crafts, second P.E. and remedial math; Ruth Larsen, enrichment reading and first grade P.E.; Betty Allison, remedial arithmetic and remedial reading third and fourth.

THERE are 210 students now enrolled for Rheem School's first summer session.

The school will adopt a three hour period for first and second grades to include arts and crafts, P.E. and enrichment reading. Classes will be from 8:30 to 11:30.

THE VERBAL report of a recent Stanford survey group suggested we expand the Camino Pablo and Rheem schools, utilize the old school for mentally retarded and/or administration buildings and purchase a site in the Ivy Drive area.

THE RHEEM School will hold their graduation exercises June 14 at the Miramonte cafeteria. Thirty-seven students will be graduating this year. Reverend Ronald T. White of the Presbyterian Church will speak on the theme, "It's Your Life."

All the glass is in the C.P. school and light fixtures are being put in. Boilers are installed and dry walls are all up

The walls will be covered witha plastic type of cloth instead of the burlap used on the Rheem School walls. The plastics were favored for their washability.

Police Protection -- Does It Affect Your Taxes?

Are you worried about your tax bill?

Are you dissatisfied with the level of police protection that you receive?

In the unincorporated areas of the county, which includes the whole central county area except for that portion within the city limits of Walnut Creek, police protection is the job of the sheriff's office.

SUPERVISOR MEL Nielsen has suggested that if residents of a given area, such as Lafayette and Orinda, for example, want increased police protection, then they should form a special district and pay the cost themselves for added officers and cars for their area.

Danville is considering such a district right now.

There are two philosophies regarding the payment for police protection.

Nielsen's is based on the fact that county government costs should be kept at a minimum and that to increase the sheriff's staff by 46 men, as he has requested, would cost $400,000. This, says Nielsen, would amount to about five cents on your tax dollar.

So, Nielsen feels that the costs for added police protection should be born by the area served rather than the county as a whole.

SUPERVISOR EDMUND Linscheid holds the opposite view. He feels that police protection is a basic function of government and that if additional officers are needed, the cost should be born by the county general fund.

Whichever way the ball bounces, remember that you, as a taxpayer, will be paying the freight.

So, if you are worried about your tax bill, you should keep a careful eye on the police protection situation, because it is an expensive item of government.

IF YOU ARE reasonably satisfied with the level of protection that exists in the community, you should oppose the formation of any special district or any expansion of the sheriff's staff.

If you are not, then you must realize that added protection will cost more money.

And the results will show up on your next tax bill.

Do Courts Affect Taxes?

Are you worried about your tax bill? How is it affected by the courts?

The six municipal court judges in this county have registered their opposition to County Administrator J. P. McBrien's proposal to establish one municipal court serving the entire county and organized with departments similar to the superior court organization.

The judges maintain that cost should not be a major factor in the operation of municipal courts, but that the administration of justice is the most important factor.

AND THEY MAINTAIN that a court system organized according to McBrien's plan would not serve the county as well as the present system.

On the other side of the fence, California Chief Justice Phil S. Gibson has approved the proposal.

Let's look at the financial side of the picture.

McBrien estimates that the consolidation of the court system would have this county about 3½ million by 1980. His estimates show a savings of $160,000 the first year, increasing to $500,000 per year by 1980.

NOW, IF YOU are concerned with your tax bill, it becomes obvious that this kind of reorganization is the only possible way to keep our exenses within any reasonable bounds.

What can you do about it? You can investigate the situation—put provincialism aside—and let your county officials know how you feel about it, because the board of supervisors has the power to put this reorganization into effect.

Do you want to keep your tax bill in line? Consider the court system.

Do Budgets Affect Taxes...?

Are you worried about your taxes?

Now is the time to stop and realize that services cannot be performed without people, and that personnel costs are the major part of every special district which serves you, as well as your county government.

Consider, for example, your school districts all the way from elementary districts through junior college.

PERSONNEL COSTS in our school districts average almost 70 per cent of the buget, so you can see where the largest part of your tax dollar goes, because school districts cost more to operate than any of our other special districts.

This is not the place to debate teacher and administrator salaries . . . that should be done by your school boards. But there is nothing to stop you from attending budget sessions and keeping an eye on where your dollar goes.

Right now, throughout this county, various boards are discussing literally millions of dollars . . . tax dollars . . . dollars that you pay.

THIS, OF COURSE, includes fire districts, sanitary districts, county supervisors and other districts as well as school districts.

And remember. Your tax bill reflects graphically the outcome of each of these individual budget sessions. If each district keeps its budget within reasonable limits, then your tax bill will remain within similar limits.

This is the time when your special districts are holding budget hearings. It is in your interest to see that you are represented, or that your homeowners' organization is represented at these budget hearings.

It is something you can do if you are worried about taxes.

The Staff Corner

Follow That Urge!

By JEAN JERNIGAN

There's more to spring popping out all over than kids 'n kittens and green things. For some reason, maybe it's because nature is so busy creating in the spring, people get the urge to "write."

The "urge" is not limited by age or sex. Rashes of poems and essays pour fourth from the schools. Career minded June graduates visit editorial offices asking questions. Housewives want to know how they "can get started."

FOR THOSE contemplating a career, whether it is in the field of creative writing or journalism, the advice given me as a teenager by the city editor of a daily in Boston, Massachusetts, still holds true. true.

He said, "Get the very best, broadest education you possibly can. While you are doing this, write. Write about anything and everything, but write something every day."

Contrary to popular opinion, writing is not an easy task. Even those who write fluently and well, those who would rather write than do most anything else, find it requires real effort and self-discipline.

Because many writers work at home, the public is apt to picture them as free souls not chained by office, dictated to by boss, or hampered by routine.

THIS COULD be true of the top income novelist . . . but they didn't get there by chewing on the end of a pencil and gazing dreamily out the window.

Successful writers have usually spent years of hard application of the seat to the chair, the hands to the typewriter and the brain to the task at hand.

As for the newspaper publisher seated behind a huge desk in a plush office, the editors with reporters at his command . . . they didn't arrive at these positions by chance. Usually there are years of hard work, low pay, night meetings, crazy hours, and work, work, work, behind the successful publisher and/or editor.

WHILE WE'RE exploding myths, there is nothing romantic or glamorous about newspaper work, or reporters for that matter. Reporting is hard work. It is interesting, sometimes exciting, but I defy anyone to find glamour in a four-hour long school board debate attended after an eight hour work day . . . or romance in writing obituaries.

As for reporters, they are not all the dashing figures of wit and fact one might assume. The figure in the trench coat and jaunty hat immortalized on the screen, viewed in reality is usually hatless and frequently has a tired appearance.

There's a reason for it, the poor guy is probably at the point of exhaustion. As for women reporters, they more frequently resemble someone's nice little grandmther, than Miss America of 1961. The younger ones soon acquire that "tired look," and the fresh young smile is more apt to be a grimace.

SO WHY DO I work for a newspaper? Because I like people, I like to write, and I wouldn't trade my job for love nor money. I even think the staff is pretty wonderful and number them among my best friends.

If the urge to write is still with you, by all means try. Perhaps for you, as for me, the task will be so satisfying it will be worth initial disappointments, hard work perseverance and sacrifices.

How to get started? No problem. Just sit down and write, even if you toss it in the wastebasket, you'll have made a beginning.

Letters to The Editor

MORAGA

Dear Editor:

Either your reporter "missed the boat," or some of the speakers from the crowd who attended the Moraga School Board meeting May 1 did not express themselves clearly.

The reporter's statement that ". . . the gathering seemed to divide into two groups: a superintendent is desired; a superintendent is desired, specifically Charles Toll . . ." is not correct.

Many of those who attended the meeting are not in favor of hiring a superintendent at present, feeling that with the second school yet to be completed, and with the question of unification still unanswered, the board is "rushing things".

Also, there were questions raised as to the adequacy of the board's study of the need for a superintendent (which questions were not satisfactorily answered by the board).

Concern was expressed by some at the cost of hiring a superintendent, in light of the recent increase in assessed valuation of real property.

POLITICS

Dear Editor:

Isn't it nice that we have thoughtful citizens in our community who are considerate of our teen-agers to allow them to use their property for school politics?

I am referring to the property just opposite the Acalanes High School on which the campaigners have so colorfully decorated the hillside with campaigning messages each year.

TAXES

Dear Editor:

Your quote of a contribution by Assemblyman Jerome Waldie in your tax column in your issue of April 21 is very amusing to me. The contribution by Assemblyman Waldie was amusing, though quite true, as you know; however, the part that is particularly amusing to me is that, Assemblyman Waldie, by sending in this contribution, endeavored to set himself up as a knight in shining armor, a knight who was looking after the people's money, conserving their tax money for them.

IT IS AMUSING to me because I have just had a letter from Assemblyman Waldie in which he brags about taking a leading part, as a membeer of the Assembly Rules Committee, of seeing to it that the assembly as a whole would not have a chance to vote on a real tax deduction movement.

This involves a resolution, known as A. J. Res. 21, which is a resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to allow the full Congress to vote on the proposed 23rd Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

This proposed 23rd amendment would vote the Federal Government out of private business and then three years later repeal the 16th Amendment, the personal Income Tax Amendment and in addition (and very important now), "The constitution or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment."

Four state legislatures have already so memorialized Congress on this and in 1961 a sizable number more are sure to do so. Yet, Assemblyman Waldie refused to allow this bill to get on the floor of the full California Assembly and brags about it and brags about it even though well over 50,000, that's fifty thousand, letters were received by the California legislature (more than on any bill in the past 17 years) urging a vote by the legislature on it.

NOW THERE is a good tax cause for you to editorialize on—but here is another.

Having just received the reassessment notice on our property, I went today with a friend, to talk to the assistant assessors on the matter. In the course of investigating how much some of our neighbors' increase in assessment was I found that they did not know about it.

I verified with the assistant assessor that most people who are paying their property taxes as a part of their mortgage installments do not get a tax bill. The assistant assessor estimated that 75 per cent of the people don't.

Therefore these people who do not get a tax bill do not know what (and how high) their taxes are and so are an uninformed majority that are not bothered about voting for bond issues or for other tax increases. They are not bothered because they do not know how much it will cost them.

I think if these people knew what their increased costs would be that fewer measures that increase taxes would carry.

NOW HERE IS where you and your papers can render a real service and that is to push for a law or ruling, whatever is necessary, to see that a copy of the tax bills go to the owner of the property and not just to the mortgage holder.

Now this is not just humorous as was Assemblyman Waldie's contribution, to be read, enjoyed and forgotten, but something that needs to be called to your readers' attention. I enclose a card with additional information on the proposed 23rd Amendment, the amendment to repeal the personal income, estate and gift taxes for your information in case you do not have it at hand. So I trust that you give these items the space that you did Assemblyman Waldie's humorous contribution.

CLIFFORD C. REA

TAX DISTRICTS

Dear Editor:

Last week's edition of the Sun reveals the startling news that pressure groups are asking for two more special taxing districts, a "Parking District" and a "Police District". All on top of a "Lighting-Planter Maintenance District" just formed to light up Mt. Diablo Blvd. from one end to the other.

I am sure I have read many an article in the Sun against special districts because of the lack of control you have over them. Yet one has just been formed and groups are pushing for two more.

Supervisor Nielsen is now endeavoring to cut the proposed budget five to eight million dollars while people are pressuring him for further services and special districts.

Where are all those persons who fought so hard against incorporation? Against local control? Against state subventions? How hollow the cries of "no, no, taxes will go up". Is this the alternative, taxes up anyway and push, push, for more special tax districts.

Lafayette is loaded with top business executives, club organizers, youth and welfare workers, and yet, no ambition or desire to run their own governmental affairs.

Surely one incorporation district would be far better than four or five special districts. Lafayette should incorporate and make use of the sales tax and subvention monies. This would not raise any state taxes, as the money is there but you don't share unless you incorporate.

Tax districts are a poor substitute. Our government provides incorporation as a means of local control and we should fight to make it work as it is basic to our democracy.

Under The Sun

And So They Sailed Away To Eat, Dance and Play

(While you and I slave here at home, 18 of our neighbors are enjoying The Sun's Sea Party to Hawaii. Here is the first dispatch from the party by The Sun's Associate published.—H.S.)

By ELEANOR SILVERMAN

WITH THE SUN SUBURBIA SEA PARTY, ABOARD THE S.S. MATSONIA TO HONOLULU—The passengers were crowded along the rail, shouting at their friends and relatives who never could quite spot them. The streams of serpentine were flying over the side of the ship, and the long awaited whistle finally blasted above the strains of Hawaiian music.

I had been waiting for tears and crushed, damp handkerchiefs. Stanton Delaplane had promised that we could wade in the tears along the deck. But instead, everyone seemed to have the surprised, stunned look of, "I'm actually standing up here throwing serpentine and waving goodbye and not down on the dock clutching the broken pieces of serpentine and anticipating the let-down walk back to the car."

Just to make sure that I hadn't missed any tear spillers, I took a survey, which only confirmed my conviction that this is great, exciting, and a little unbelievable.

Aloha, aloha, aloha

The send off is really the most dramatic part of the voyage. People you love, people you didn't realize really cared and people you just don't know—all come to the ship to see you off. The excitement is contagious and you find that an ocean voyage is really the romantic and exciting trip you had dreamed of.

The biggest surprise is that by the time the ship floats under the Golden Gate Bridge, everyone is suddenly one, big happy family. Officers, crew, passengers give each other advice, exchange ideas and small talk as if they had known each other for years.

The 18 of us on The Sun Suburbia Sea Party had the opportunity to form an even closer family group when the lovely hostess, Kauai, and the host, Barry, gave a cocktail party for our group. With easy Hawaiian hospitality, they soon had us all calling each other by first names—names which Kauai and Barry remembered immediately. They kept repeating the names, so that we, too, finally memorized them.

A new kind of dance?

Meanwhile, back on the ship . . . you haven't lived until you have tried true Rock and Roll. Up until the first-night-out dance, I had always thought that Rock and Roll was an Elvis Presley gyration.

But "Dancing on the Waving Sea" really sends you—sometimes it sends you to one end of the dance floor and sometimes back to your chair.

Leading your partner or following his lead is no problem. The ship does the leading and any mistakes or stepped-on-toes are the will of the sea. My only suggestion is that the band should make an effort to choose selections which jive with the rhythm of the sea.

Unfortunately, second-night-out dancing is tame and calm, with passengers left to their own devices to choose steps and rhythms.

It's a tough life . . .

The schedule on ship is more demanding than appears in "The Polynesian," the newspaper published daily at sea by Matson Lines.

Think of the problems involved in making "early risers coffee" by 8:30, rushing through breakfast so that you can dash to promenade deck for morning bouillon, back to the dining room for a seven-course luncheon snack: a few turns around the deck only to run into tea service: glamorous champagne cocktail parties complete with giant shrimp, water chestnut wrapped in bacon, curry puffs—and then to dinner.

Naturally, you'll want some "midnight buffet." Sorry, I can't describe it for you (I hear it's great), but by that time, I couldn't even take a walk by to look at the sumptuous spread, even in the name of good reporting.

Yak, yak, yak

As a result, much conversation centers around the waistline. There's the school, "You can eat all you want as long as you only order one desert."

Then, there's the "fruit-and-coffee-for-breakfast and salad-for-lunch type"—much in the minority. And then there is the vast majority who eat and enjoy.

Fortunately, all the excitement and planning and packing before departure thins you out: and the trip fare replenishes and replaces. Wasn't it Archimedes who said that "A body replaces or displaces its own weight in water?" Well, this proves it.

The eating schedule runs simultaneously with the playing schedule. Remember, you have to work in your hula lessons, movies, card games, tennis and ping pong, shuffleboard, horse racing, bingo, Hoomalimali (kids games for grown-up kids), sunning, swimming, reading, writing letters, dancing, gabbing—all in between meals. It isn't easy, but it's surely fun trying.

Is it the sea air?

All in all, there is a warmth and companionship engendered by the ship's atmosphere, sea air and hospitality that you could not duplicate in any other setting.

Perhaps, it's because you are constantly meeting and re-meeting your friends and new acquaintances each time you step on deck. I've run into the same people three times in a half hour without even trying.

Perhaps it's because there is a "We're-in-this-thing-together" feeling, for better or for worse for four and a half days.

Perhaps it's the nautical terminology, the glamorous officers in uniform, the sight of the smoke stacks with the big M, the railing and the endless blue sea. Or perhaps, sailing to Hawaii is truly a thrilling privilege.

50 Years of Service...

The Women's Club of Walnut Creek, celebrating its golden anniversary, will hold open house Tuesday from 2:30 to 4 p.m. at the clubhouse on Lincoln Avenue.

Mrs. Sherman Camp, president, will be the official hostess.

Invitations have been extended to Mrs. Lee Osbirn, General Federation president and to Mrs. Ruth L. Llrich, executive secretary, both of Washington, D.C.

Also to State Federation officers Mrs. Earl J. Hazelton, president; Mrs. P. G. Friday, financial secretary; Mrs. Clyde Stansberry and Mrs. Clifford Baughman, vice presidents at large.

To Mrs. J. Vaughan Shahbazian, president of Mt. Diablo District and past president of the local club, and many others.

Mrs. John H. Brubaker, a past president and an active member since joining the club in 1916, is general chairman.

At 12 noon a round table luncheon for Federation dignitaries, past presidents and club members will be held in the Patio Room of the Pleasant Hill Nut Bowl.

After the luncheon, the group will go to the clubhouse for the installation of new officers, preceding the tea.

The newly elected directors for the 1961-62 term are: President, Mrs. Ray Rosel; first vice president, Mrs. George Fox; second vice president, Mrs. Ivar Lindberg; recording secretary, Mrs. F. C. Hartley.

Financial Secretary, Mrs. Frank Scothorn; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Richard King; treasurer, Mrs. Delmar Brussard; auditor, Mrs. Fred Samm; directors, Mesdames Melvin Jory, Jr., Elmer Valentine and Roy Coats, and parliamentarian, Mrs. J. H. Brubaker.

The Women's Club of Walnut Creek was organized in July, 1911, when 30 women met in the Town Hall under the leadership of Mrs. Jane Borden, an experienced club woman from Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The name chosen at that time was The Women's Improvement Club of Walnut Creek. Mrs. Harry F. Spencer was elected president.

Twenty-eight of the women present signed as charter members and four of these women, although no longer club members, still reside in the bay area and will be honored guests Tuesday.

They are Mrs. Lawrence Walker and Mrs. Rufus Stow of Walnut Creek; Mrs. Frank Botelho of Fremont, and Mrs. Alice Ormsby of Martinez.

In January, 1912, the local group, having submitted an application for membership in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, received their charter through the California Federation of Women's Clubs, Alameda District Federation.

The following March, at convention, the club won its first award for library service to the community of Walnut Creek.

Last month at the dedication services of the new Walnut Creek library, a 50-year dream was fulfilled upon completion of the new building.

During World War I, the club was close to disbanding.

However, due to the leadership of Mrs. J. C. McGeehon, president at the time, the club continued to meet and to grow into one of the largest clubs in the state. Present membership is 243.

Mrs. McGeehon today is still an energetic and interested club member.

As the club progressed, a definite need for a clubhouse became apparent. So in 1934 even at the height of the depression, a lot was purchased by the club members and with the aid of their husbands, merchants and friends, a building was erected.

In 1937 the membership moved into their new quarters which is the present clubhouse on Lincoln Avenue.

The women have participated in numerous projects in the past and are still actively engaged in support of the library, city beautification, youth activities, granting of scholarships, recreation department, in the advancement of medical science, aiding needy families, legislative programs and many others.

A great number of awards have been bestowed upon the organization at district, state and national conventions of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Many members of the local club have served as officers and chairmen on district, county and state boards.

Many mothers, who have been members of long standing, are now working side by side with their daughters at the club.

The Walnut Creek juniors are sponsored by the senior group and as the girls move forward, they become members of the seniors through transfer to continue on with their club interests and activities.

Six new members will be introduced Tuesday as junior transfers.

They are Mmes. Roger Black, Leonard Hopkins, Grovenor Fox, William McGeehon, Robert Wise and Donald Tice.

The members are now looking forward to new and wider horizons.

Serving on the committee are Mmes. Edward Bradley, Harold Harmon, each a past president; Ray Rosel, Delmar Brussard, Melvin Jory, Jr., Cecil Jensen, Howard Grotts, Edwin Robinson and Leonard Worthington.

The past presidents will serve as hostesses and preside at the tea table.

Among those will be Mmes. J. C. McGeehon, H. S. Zehner, H. M. Marshall, W. S. Palmer, Robert Goff, H. C. Schroeder, John S. Halbert, Audrey Macomber, M. C. Bolender, A. E. Latham, E. Wells Smith, E. E. Edwards, Orin Boslar, Ernest Holman and Arthur Larson.

Officers Take Helm

The Pleasant Hill Junior Women's Club joined the Pleasant Hill Women's Club in a joint installation of officers May 8 at Kellogg's in Walnut Creek.

The joint installation was preceded by a banquet attended by both clubs.

Installing officers for the ceremony was Mrs. Donald Carson, district president of the Mt. Diablo District of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, junior membership.

Mrs. Carson chose as her theme, "Sailing Ships" and as each officer was installed she presented them with a miniature sailboat and paralleled their office with that of the crew of a ship.

The presidents of the two clubs were presented with sailors' hats topped with miniature boats as they represented the captains of the two crews and ships.

Mrs. Carson is just beginning her term as district president, having taken office at the April 15 convention of the Mt. Diablo District.

Taking office in the Pleasant Hill Junior Women's Club are president, Mrs. James F. Wimberley; vice-president, Mrs. Robert L. Mechler; secretary, Mrs. Charles Markee; treasurer, Mrs. Edward Tazer; auditor, Mrs. Frank Teiche.

These officers will officially take office June 1.

Officers of the Pleasant Hill Women's Club are president, Mrs. C. J. Damgard, serving her second term; first vice-president, Mrs. Orville Newman, second vice-president, Mrs. Harold Jachens; recording secretary, Mrs. O. H. Carstens; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William McLaughlin; treasurer, Mrs. William Cook; auditor, Mrs. Edward F. O'Brien; directors, Mmes. C. R. Mullong, Roy Fisher and G. A. Cail.

General chairman for the evening was Mrs. Edward F. O'Brien. Mrs. M. G. Hoskins was in charge of reservations. Mrs. C. H. Carstens will serve as junior-senior co-ordinator from the Pleasant Hill Women's Club.

Just prior to the installation the senior club members conducted a brief meeting during which they voted to aid the juniors in assisting the We Care Center for multi-handicapped children in the center's open house May 24.

The open house will be held at the First Christian Church in Concord from 8 to 10 p.m. and the two clubs will hostess the event.

They also contributed the 300 necessary invitations.

The Pleasant Hill Junior Women's Club announces the resignation of Mrs. Richard Gillespie as of April 25. The club's vice-president, Mrs. William Calder, has assumed duties of the president until the new term begins June 1.

Eric-Alt Will Conduct 'Critique'

Lenore Eric-Alt, artist, art critic and teacher, will conduct a "critique" May 22 at the regular meeting of the Diablo Art Association held in the Contra Costa Realtors Building, 1343 Locust St., Walnut Creek.

According to Kathy Madsen, program chairman, this critique is open to all artists wishing to bring in one or two paintings.

Mrs. Eric-Alt will begin at 7:30 and spend the entire evening viewing and discussing the various paintings.

LENORE ERIC-ALT, having received her education in art at the Art Institute of Chicago, has taught at the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis, at the Dominican College in San Rafael and is now teaching in the decorative arts department of the University of California.

Mrs. Erik-Alt has a studio in Berkeley and has many one-man shows. Much of her work is seen in major galleries and museums.

Kathy Hassler, exhibit chairman, announces nine one-man shows now featured in local establishments.

SHOWING in Comptons is Majorie Batchelder; Kathy Madsen is seen in Kaisers; Lela Nelson has her painting in the Walnut Bowl; the Nut Bowl features Lillian Speltz; Helen Scherich is in Suburban Carpets; Alicia Baumgartner's work is hanging in Ralph, Joseph and Owens; Ida Nardini displays at Pillsburies; the paintings of Kathy Hassler and Delora France are decorating the walls at Juvenile Hall.

Summer Camp for Scouts

Summer Camp season opens on June 17 for the Boy Scouts of Mt. Diablo Council with a full-time program at Camp Herms in El Cerrito.

Four days a week—Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays—will be for Boy Scouts on an individual, patrol, or troop basis.

Traditional Scoutcraft skills will include hiking, campcraft, cooking, merit badge instruction, archery and swimming.

TWO DAYS a week—Tuesday and Thursday—will be especially for Cub Scouts.

Any Cub Pack, or Den, in Contra Costa County, Albany, or Berkeley is eligible to use the Camp Herms facilities at no cost, other than a fee of 25 cents a day for swimming, or $1 for a season ticket to use the pool.

Each Cub group will be given assistance in program planning, as well as with instruction to supplement that of the Cub unit's own adult leadership. Cub leaders may make reservations for picnic facilities by phoning Rod Raines, camp ranger, or through Camp Director Andy Balerud or Elmer Emmons at the Boy Scout Office, 2040 Fourth Street, Berkeley.

Council long-term camping for some 2000 or more Boy Scouts will open at Camps Lindblad and Wolfeboro on June 24. The first period has two troops signed up at Lindblad, and 15 troops at Wolfeboro for a total of 330 boys.

FOR MANY weeks preparations have been under way for what promises to be the biggest season.

A total of 70 units and 1700 boys are signed up for the camping season, June 24 to August 19.

In charge of the camps are professionally trained Scout executives, supplemented by high-caliber summer staff.

Leonard Ziegler, Camp Herms District Executive, will be director of Camp Lindblad for the summer.

PROGRAM director will be Brooks Kuehl, Concord District executive.

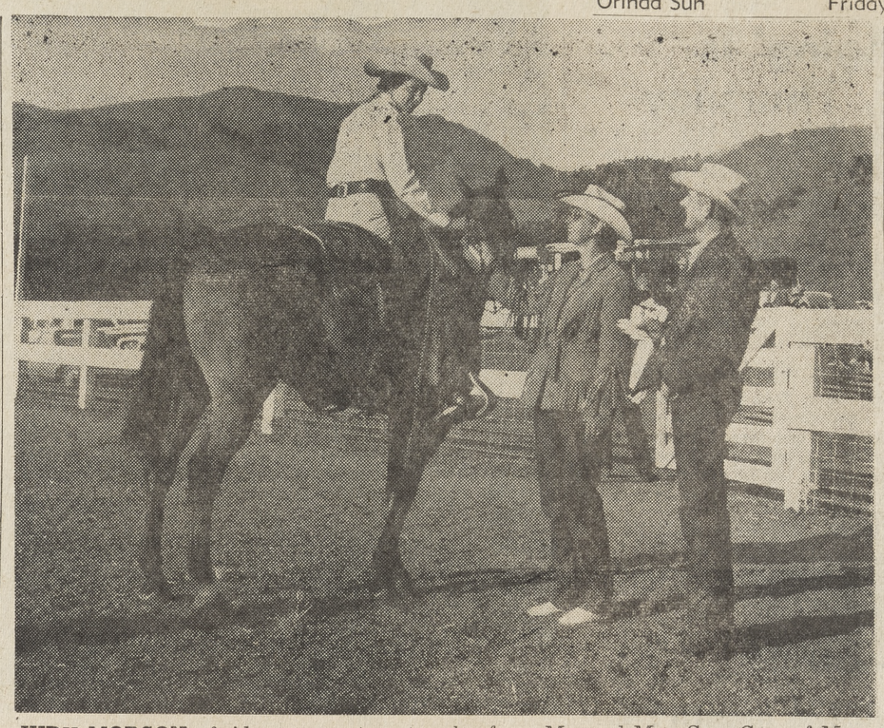
Camp Wolfeboro program features will be under the direction of Harold Lee, executive of the Or-La-Mo District (Orinda, Lafayette, Moraga).

Coordination of buying and general policies will be the responsibility of Donovan W. Reeve, council director of camping and exploring.

For the first time, Camp Wolfeboro Scouts will have the services of a full-time nurse.

Mrs. Jat Fisher will assist physicians, who will be scheduled on a week-at-a-time basis by Dr. Ralph Kirk, Health and Safety Committee chairman.

NEARLY EVERYONE READS THE SUN!



JUDY MORSON of Alamo accepts a trophy from Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carr of Moraga, members of the Moraga Horsemen's Association. Many such trophies will be presented after tomorrow's sixth annual show. There will be both Junior and open classes and AHSA Medal Stock seat. Moraga Lions will have a barbecue at noon to which the public is invited. The show and barbecue will be held in Bollinger Canyon.

Program May Give Nurses More Courses

A program to provide continuing educational opportunities for nurses is being considered by the Professional Education Committee of the Contra Costa County Heart Association.

Final decision will be based upon results of a questionnaire in which nurses are asked to indicate whether they would be interested in attending refresher courses, postgraduate lectures, or other information courses to increase their knowledge.

Since part of the objective is to bring back into the profession nurses who are inactive, the Heart Association is asking such persons to contact the office at 2030 North Main Street, Walnut Creek, for a copy of the questionnaire or other information.

Decision as to which courses to sponsor will be made at a meeting of the Nursing Committee on Thursday. The Committee includes Mrs. Barbara Brite, Concord Hospital, chairman; Mrs. Robert L. Duling, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Jeannette Muth, director of nurses, Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Walnut Creek.

Needed: Foster Homes

Foster homes, the children, the licensing and the experiences of the "parents" were explained Wednesday at a public foster home information meeting.

It was held at 1535 Bonanza Street, Walnut Creek, under the sponsorship of the County Council of Churches, Probation Department and Social Services Department.

Speakers were Werne Cohn, deputy probation officer; Mrs. Betty Lou Buderi, Social Services Department, and two foster parents, William Sagers of Walnut Creek and Amos Wheats of Martinez.

Among the cases of children for whom foster homes are currently sought are the following, submitted for publication by the Sun:

"James", age 14, white, protestant. Frequent runaway and auto theft. Generally a passive boy, easily led. Handles pressure by running away. Osteomyelitis in one arm covered by Crippled Children's Services. Very attractive and appealing boy. Needs stable family with father he can respect and relate to; family that can demonstrate mutual respect.

"Margaret", age 18. Negro-Mexican girl of protestant faith. Identifies with Negro group but looks Mexican. Girl with deprived opportunities in early life re: school, shifting from relative relative. She has a good positive attitude toward people. Works hard and is very responsive to affection. Wants to be needed and accepted.

Due to her having to care for the grandmother from age 11-15 years, she wasn't able to attend school often and is academically retarded. She was also raped and physically abused by her father. She is pleasant and strongly motivated to get an education and work.

"Tony", age 13. Catholic boy of Italian and Mexican descent. Spent several years in a Catholic school before being placed in a foster home in October, 1960. Bill is withdrawn, non-verbal youngster who does not relate easily to adults and is fearful of competition with peers. He is in the slow group in school; however, he is no school problem.

Needs Catholic home with strong foster father and foster parents who can tolerate initial withdrawn, uncommunicative attitude and subsequent expressions of hostility and verbal aggressiveness towards foster mother. There must be no younger girls or boys his own age in the home.

Republicans Plan Cocktail Party

Spring in ancient Rome was celebrated with gay festivals. Such an atmosphere of "fun and frolic" is being recreated by Diablo Valley Republican Assembly for their May 26 cocktail party at the Donald Rheem estate.

A variety of games will lend a carnival spirit to the 6:30 p.m. al fresco event. A "coins in the fountain" and a grape guessing game will be included with the more traditional carnival games of skill, according to entertainment chairman Mrs. Stanley Fraser.

In keeping with the ancient rites to Flora, goddess of Spring, garlands of flowers and laurel will enhance the beauty of the pool area of the estate, scene of the festivities. The pool itself will float an abundance of flowers of all colors.

Tickets are still available to the fund-raising event, according to Mrs. Thomas Van Voorhis, general chairman. They may be secured by calling Mrs. Paul Heffernan, CL 4-8174.

Communism Responsible For Deaths -- Professor

Communism has cost the lives of 23 million people over a 44-year period, Prof. W. S. Sworakowski of Stanford University told Contra Costa Junior College District audiences in the final lecture of a series on Communisim, last week.

"This should answer the question of many sincere people who ask whether Communism is "really evil," he said.

The death toll has racked up through purges, civil war, uprisings and outright starvation, not only in Russia itself but in satellite nations, he said.

The series of nine lectures in the county was attended by an estimated 20,000 persons.

The program was put together by two faculty members, Wayne Hayden of Diablo Valley College and Mario Pezzola of Contra Costa College.

Prof. Sworakowski complimented the governing board of the district and Superintendent Drummond J. McCunn for "doing something" about the growing menace of Communism as compared to many colleges, schools, organizations and people "who are doing nothing."

Although his presentation was in the nature of summing up what other speakers said, he expanded on the subject.

He asked his audience to remember that when it comes to progress in any given field — space exploration for example— the Communists have a "command economy" which permits the entire resources and manpower of Russia to be channeled into a single effort.

While he did not question Russia's first-man-in-space accomplishment, he pointed out that the rest of the world has only the "official" word of those in power that it actually took place.

"Who, for example, witnessed the achievement of Mr. Gagarin going into outer space?" Prof. Sworakowski asked.

Sworakowski said that Karl Marx made 126 predictions of things to come in his Manifesto, the bible of Communism, but to date 124 of them have not come to pass and he was wrong on the two others.

Marx, he said in respect to the two wrong guesses, predicted that the poor would become poorer and the rich richer, and that big capital would absorb small capital.

In the past 100 years, however, the poor have become richer and big capital has not swallowed small capital," he said.

Sworakowski agreed with a previous speaker that education in America is "sugar-coated," but again pointed out that under Russia's "command economy" the government decrees what everyone shall do at any given time and that this fiat applies to education as well as to ther fields.

It was sponsored by the Walnut Creek chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Individual comeptition found Dave Wright of Miramonte High School in first place.

His teammate, Michael Eaton, placed third.

Twelve schools were represented in the competition won by the Acalanes High School team last year.

Four students from each school work cooperatively on five problems which are graded for accuracy and count 50 per cent of the team score.

Next, each student works on a series of problems individually and the average of the four grades are added to the team score to determine the school winners.

Individual winners are determined by the scores made on the individual competition.

Medak, Pico Suits Unsuccessful

A $10,000 injury suit by Walnut Creek Attorney Walter Medak and a $50,000 counter-suit by Walnut Creek Artist Charles Pico both failed recently in Contra Cosa Superior Court.

The filings arose from an incident at the Monterey County Fair, when Medak attempted to serve a contempt of court papers on Pico. A struggle ensued.

Medak, a resident of 1058 Via Roble, Lafayette, was representing Mrs. Pico in her divorce suit at that time.

The superior court jury voted 11-1 against both suits.

Elks, Will Sponsor Show At Las Lomas Sunday

The circus is coming to town! What youngster hasn't thrilled to these words at one time or another?

It will all be a reality on Sunday when Rudy Brothers Circus comes to Las Lomas High School in Walnut Creek under the auspices of Walnut Creek Elks Lodge 1811.

TWO PERFORMANCES will be given, at 1:30 and 4 p.m. and tickets may be purchased at the gate. Admission is $1.45 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. All proceeds will go to the Elks charity fund.

Eugene Scott and 20 tons of ponderous pachyderms will be the feature attraction of the circus, which has thrilled youngsters and adults alike for the past four years under Elk sponsorship.

True to tradition, says Alfred Malnick, circus chairman, this year's circus will be even bigger and better than before.

RECENTLY RETURNED from a tour of the Orient, the five fourton elephantine ladies have been known to rock seismographs during some of the more active moments of their act.

THESE PONDEROUS pachyderms will come thundering into the ring Sunday when Walnut Creek Elks Lodge 1811 presents Rudy Brothers Circus for the fourth consecutive year. Proceeds from the event which will be held at Las Lomas High School will go to charity. Tickets may be purchased at the gate before the two performances at 1:30 and 4 p.m.

To map the route of the 1400-mile Alberta-California pipeline which will bring Canadian natural gas to PG&E customers, surveyors used electronic measurement. It works day or night, in rain or fog, and can measure longer distances than ordinary surveying equipment. Using electronics meant a faster, more economical survey on the $300 million pipeline . . . another project in Pacific Gas and Electric Company's continuing program of building ahead for California—a state-on-the-grow.

DVC to Offer Two New Courses in Law Enforcement

The first two courses in a 23-unit major in Law Enforcement will be offered at Diablo Valley College during the fall 1961 semester.

The courses are Introduction to Law Enforcement and Criminal and Related Laws.

Instructors will be Charles E. Grant, coordinator of Police Training, Contra Costa Junior College District in the introductory course and Captain Steve S. Rossi, Contra Costa County Sheriff's Department in the law course.

According to Grant, the major is designed for men and women to prepare for a career in law enforcement upon graduation from the junior college and for those who plan to transfer to one of the state colleges offering a four-year degree in law enforcement.

Grant said that more and more police agencies in California are requiring successful completion of at least two years of college for appointment and that this program will satisfy that requirement.

Enrollment for new students at Diablo Valley College will start on June 1.

Raised Beds Add Zip To Home Gardening

In more than a few ways, raised beds are the showcases of home gardening. They give the experienced gardener a prominent place to show off his skills. And more than that, they give an inexperienced gardener the chance to create some special effects with a minimum of know-how.

The primary appeal of a raised bed is that certain trailing plants can be made to spill their blooms from it in the most fetching way. But that's not the only attraction. Raised beds put all plants up where they can't be denied, and the gardener who uses his imagination can take utmost advantage of this.

IN A SENSE, the challenges are similar to those offered by gardening with containers, for after all, what are raised beds but extra large containers of sorts? If you take your cue from this and use the same type of accent shrubs that you'd grow in tubs, then you are well on your way to having something special.

Let's return to this matter of cascading bloom, however, for there is real fun to be had in trying it. And as the California Association of Nurserymen points out, even the novice gardener can create some professional effects this way.

The use of such plants as ivy geranium, Italian bellflower, ground morning glory, lantana and star jasmine will make an overnight green-thumber out of you if you plant them in raised beds.

ANNUALS are highly decorative when they have the tendency to spill. Use petunias, alyssum and trailing lobelia.

Set individual plants near enough to the edge to permit them to spill over, but not so near that they spill in their entirety. You want at least as much foliage and bloom on top as you have growing down the side.

And remember, you can overdo a good thing. Don't space the plants so that they create a continuous overflow, but space them in a manner that some areas of the wall will remain visible both at top and bottom.

Plants Hugging Ground Add to Landscape Design

Plants that hug the ground play an important role in landscape design. Spotted in small gardens, they form the base from which to build your color palette. Used in large gardens, they gobble up space and preserve a neat, well-trimmed look in areas that might ordinarily be hard to keep that way.

Take the eye-catching evergreen candytuft, for instance. In spring and early summer when you see it, it is a compact mass of white bloom against a rich green background—but how often do you see it?

FOR ALL their worth, however, many of the best ground-hugging handyplants are often overlooked by gardeners.

TRY IT with adjacent clumps of basket of gold alyssum and we'll bet you start seeing it more often in your neighborhood. Cottage pinks—as spicily fragrant as their carnation cousins—are delightful additions to the border, either in clumps or as edging. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen suggest that gardeners who wish to get maximum mileage out of these old-fashioned favorites should insure that the soil will be non-acid.

Garden Clubs Will Hold School May 31-June 3

California Garden Clubs, Inc., will hold their Flower Show School Course Five, May 31 through June 3, in Walnut Creek.

The school is open to all those interested in horticulture and landscape design.

National Council of State Garden Clubs instructors and judges Mrs. Warren Deverel, Muriel L. Merrell and Mrs. Evelyn Clarke, an authority on succulents and cacti, will lecture.

MAY 31, registration for the course or separate lectures will be held from 9:30 to 10 a.m. at the Contra Costa Real Estate Board (upstairs) at 1343 Locust Street in Walnut Creek.

For further information and pre-registration, contact Mrs. George Cail, 201 Mayhew Way, Concord. Checks for the entire course at $10 or for single lectures at $5 each should be made out to her.

AT NURSERIES & GARDEN STORES

Our Cheerful People Show It's Fun Here at Home . . .

It's fun in the sun in Central Contra Costa County.

Have you ever had the pleasure of flying over our beautiful area and looking down at the lovely homes and gardens?

If you have, the first thing that impressed you was the number of swimming pools sparkling across the landscape.

At first sight, it seems as if everybody must have one. Driving through the area in a car you are not aware of them so much, because many of them are well screened and secluded from the chance views of a passer-by.

SO, IT'S OBVIOUS that our people love to swim, and that many of us either have our own pool, or have access to a neighbor who has one.

But fun in the sun here doesn't mean an expensive pool, either. Do you know of a single home that doesn't have either a patio or a porch where you can dine and look at the view? They are few and far between!

As the spring days lengthen and grow warmer barbecue hats and aprons spring up like magic, and the smoke from succulent meals roasting on the grill wafts across the evening sky.

BUT THERE'S even more to fun in the sun. Outdoor games and pleasures abound. You will find a few tennis courts scattered here and there.

Iron Chelate Will 'Green Up' Camellias

Green up azaleas and camellias with an iron chelate compound. Chelates (say it "keylate") hold the iron in suspension until a plant absorbs it.

Feed azaleas and camellias, also, as well as other acid-loving plants with an acid fertilizer. The label tells you which plants like an acid food.

Feed lawns lightly every month rather than heavily every three months.

Pinching back is the key to bushier fuchsias and more summer bloom. Don't be afraid to lose a few potential blooms now.

Nurserymen Serve You With Pride

Area nurserymen are observing the second annual state-wide "Can Can Planting Carnival" which will begin Friday and continue for 10 days.

"Can Can", of course, stands for the California Association of Nurserymen.

It is sponsoring the carnival, which will be an advantageous time for local gardeners to strike up an acquaintance with their nurserymen.

A PROFESSIONAL nurseryman takes pride in his breadwinning task, as do the heads of most households in Contra Costa.

This is the way it pays to see him when you want advice on how to get top results from the top quality, reasonably-priced blooms now offered.

Local nurseries preparing to give you that extra amount of service which makes the garden-enlivening process worthwhile are Dave's Happy Valley Nursery, Orchard Nursery, Wright Brothers Nursery, McDonnell Nursery and Pleasant Hill Nursery.

FOR LASTING GREEN WITHOUT HARD WORK

Modern Day Lantanas Are Most Obliging Shrubs

Modern day lantanas are the most obliging of shrubs. Through 12 months of the year, they are not only evergreen, but often everblooming. And we don't mean just the scattered bloom that a few early day members of the family put forth. These earlier lantanas have been hybridized into the blooming miracles of today's nursery trade.

Lest you live in a cold winter area, the California Association of Nurserymen hastens to qualify our praise and forces us to admit that frost will still stop the lantana's color parade. But the shrubs are quick to recover and after a heavy pruning in early spring will march on again, bushier and more colorful than ever.

THE BLOOMINGEST of all are the shrubby dwarfs which come to us from the Hawaiian Islands. In mild winter climates, they are massed with color all year. You'll find them listed as dwarf pink, dwarf white and dwarf yellow, or as christine, a deep pink, and as radiation, a red-orange.

The most appealing new lantanas, however—even though they slack off slightly during the colder months—are the new spreading members of the family, crosses between the Hawaiian dwarfs and the familiar trailing lavender species.

These hybrids include the now familiar goldrush improved, a rich yellow-flowered shrub; cream carpet, with masses of creamy white, yellow-throated blossoms; confetti, a gay blade with mixed yellow, pink and purple florets; and sunburst, another brilliant yellow that rivals goldrush.

FOR ALL their improvement over yesteryear, the new lantanas need no refinement of culture. Sun is the main requisite and enough water to keep the subsoil moist even though surface conditions are bone dry.

This would mean only an occasional soaking. Pruning them back in early spring encourages new growth and discourages woodiness in the structure of the plant.

It's Bold, Showy!

If a big, bold and showy vine is something you'd like, try a giant Burmese honeysuckle. Fast growing and lush, it will cover the wall of a house in one good season. The tubular (and fragrant) blooms are up to five or six inches long, and a nice contrast to the large, glossy leaves.

Taxpayers View ANC Expansion, Rising Taxes

The number of Aid to Needy Children cases in Contra Costa County will be increased 1000 from its present total of 3600, if U.S. Congress passes proposed legislation admitting families where "dad" is at home, and unable to support his family.

This was the estimate of William Golden, County Welfare Department director, at a directors' meeting of the County Taxpayers Association.

The "unemployment" qualification, added to ANC, is sound, Golden said.

HE SAID it would be instrumental in reducing the number of "forced" desertions by fathers who want their families to receive ANC money.

He added that the big problem will be the administrative phase of the program, which will insure that the ANC recipients do not remain on the program indefinitely.

The association's newsletter, "The Spotlight", has indicated that this county has the fourth highest percentage increase in per capita taxes out of the 59 counties during the decade from 1950 to 1960.

And Contra Costa has led all urban counties with populations over 100,000.

THE PER CAPITA tax in 1940 was $45; in 1950 it was $63; in 1960 it was $159; and in 1961 it was $174.

The newsletter continued:

"The per capita tax rates must be related to increases in population, but this does not give the answer in Contra Costa County because the period of greatest growth was between 1940 (100,000) and 1950 (299,000) when our population increased by almost 200 per cent.

"During the next 10 years the county gained about 108,000 people, but the per capita tax rate better than doubled.

"There is little doubt that inflation has had a serious effect on increasing the costs of government and the demand for additional citizen services has been constant.

"ALSO, THE ratio of people living in unincorporated areas (over 50 per cent) to those within cities requires a higher cost of government for the county because of the loss of potential state revenues to cities.

"However, with the above and many other qualifications for the high cost of government in Contra Costa County, the numerical ranking of our unenviable position in relationship to other counties within the state should give our supervisors and other county officials reason to pause and seek means by which we may soon leave this status."

The newsletter discussed a meeting held on youth problems April 12 in Concord.

Speakers included John Davis, county probation officer; Ralph Kramer, executive director of the County Community Welfare Council and others.

THE ASSOCIATION staff and directors will meet in new and larger offices at Lasell's Shopping Center, starting in July.

The resignations of directors W. G. Davis of Pittsburg and Ivan Goyak of El Sobrante have been accepted. Successors are being considered.

YMCA Council Elects Leaders

Recently the YMCA Y Indian Guide Council meeting held an election of officers.

Ken Bry of Concord was elected federation chief for the coming year.

Assistant chiefs elected were Larry Noon and John Wood, Pleasant Hill, and Boyd Lucas of Walnut Creek.

Tallykeeper, Ray Goodenow, Walnut Creek.

John Anderson of Orinda and Warren Deveral of Concord were appointed members of the executive council to head up the older boy and dad program, called Y Warriors.

This is a new program for boys nine and over, and their fathers, after they get out of Indian Guides.

GLEN NELSON was elected chief of the Pleasant Hill Nation, Domonic Campanelli was elected assistant chief of Pleasant Hill Nation.

The boys who are nine years old are eligible to become Warriors.

These boys will be graduated into the program at the Camp Gualala Camp-outs. All these officers will be formally installed at the annual Y Indian Guide family picnic, which is being held June 25.

The next executive council meeting is to be a dad/son affair, and is going to be a cook-out at Curry Creek Park June 1. There will be swimming and baseball, then dinner, and the new officers will be included and their sons.

RECENTLY, the World Service committee met, chaired by Dr. Robert Burley of Walnut Creek.

They established a local goal of $700 to be raised by members of groups of the YMCA for rebuilding YMCAs abroad.

Various Y groups, such as our campers, Y's Men, Hi-Y, will take part of that goal and try to raise it.

The Indian Guides are going to raise theirs with a Halloween candy sale in October, and the campers raise theirs with a World Service carnival to be held on family visitors' day, one at each session.

DAY CAMP: There are presently 65 campers signed up and the third session, August 7-25, is starting to fill up.

We are limiting it to 50 boys.

The camp staff had an indoctrination group at San Francisco resident Camp La Honda, near Atascadero, recently with about 15 making the trip.

THE MEN'S Service Club, the Y's Men, is underway on the building, to be used for youth groups for outdoor meetings.

They are working on this project Saturday mornings under the leadership of the new Y's Men president, Robert Ballock.

Pageant of Arts Coming

The sixth annual Diablo Pageant of Arts will open with a "press preview" next Friday at the Fine Arts Exhibit in the Walnut Creek Armory.

The pageant will be open to the public May 27 through 30 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Displays and entertainment will extend throughout the city park area from the Recreation Center building to the Armory.

ON OPENING day, May 27, the Performing Arts Division in charge of entertainment will present the Pleasant Hill High School dance group and other talented local dance groups on the outdoor stage in Civic Park.

The Diablo Light Opera Company, under the direction of James Schwartz, will present "Gems from Gilbert and Sullivan" in the evening performance in the Recreation Center at 7:30.

May 28 at 2, a recital in the auditorium will star such artists as John Philip Dalby, bass baritone, and Mary McNaughton, lyric soprano, and their talented accompanist, Itala Gambino; pianists Doris Marliave and Doris Kirby; harpist Edith Marshall and flutist Alice Thompson.

The May 28 evening program from 8 to 9 p.m. will be devoted to chamber music presented by a trio of artists — Robert Block, Martin Slobotnick and Nathan Schwartz—in the Recreation Center Auditorium.

ANOTHER musical program, scheduled for May 29 from 7:30 to 8:30, will be presented by the talented pianist-composer, Julian Morton White.

Exotic dancer, Magana Baptiste, and her concert dance troupe; soprano Marian Steinbergh; and pianist Rosalyn Pollycove are among the many other talented artists who will perform during the pageant.

Gate admission will be 50 cents for adults, 35 cents for children over 12, with younger children admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

Educator Speaks To School Boards

Dr. Richard Clowes, associate superintendent and chief of the Division of Instruction, State Department of Education, spoke to the Contra County School Boards Association Tuesday at Clayton Valley High School.

"Education in the '60s" incorporated his ideas on improvements to be expected in instruction and the contribution which school boards can make.

Two Students To Study Russian

Carol J. Eubanks of Pleasant Hill, now attending the University of California in Berkeley and Mary Jennings of Lafayette, now attending Reed College in Portland, Oregon, will participate in a Russian study tour this summer.

The tour is part of the University of Michigan's six-week intensive study of the Russian language on the campus, followed by a month tour of the Soviet Union.

DURING the trip the students will receive daily language instruction.

The program is supported, in part, by the Carnegie Foundation.

Twenty college students from all over the U.S. will bone up on the Russian language at the University of Michigan this summer, then fly to Russia for a month, after signing pledges to speak only Russian while in Russia.

The students will be accompanied by three instructors from the University of Michigan; they are members of the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature.

Center Holds Open House

Contra Costa County friends of Hanna Boys' Center, the western "boys' town" near Sonoma, have been invited to an open house from 1:30 to 4 p.m., May 21, at the home for neglected boys.

Among guests touring the grounds and 17 buildings of the home will be this county's representatives on Hanna Center's board of directors. They are John P. O'Shea of Lafayette and Robert P. Raskob of Orinda.

Cancer Society Drive At 93 Per Cent of Goal

The Contra Costa County Branch of the American Cancer Society announced it has raised 93 per cent of its 1961 fund-raising goal of $75,000.

Jack K. Chapman of Alamo is county campaign chairman.

This is ahead of last year's percentage at this time, and with 16 weeks still to go before the end of the society's fiscal year on August 31.

Branch leaders are confident that the goal will be reached, Chapman said.

Contra Costa stands eighth from the top among all California counties in percentage of goal collected.

The money is used to support the American Cancer Society's year-round programs of research, education and service to cancer patients, Chapman stated.

Forty per cent of the total amount raised remains within the county for use in local programs of cancer control. The remainder is apportioned between state and national sections of the society, the bulk of it being devoted to projects of cancer research.

Nine Contra Costa communities already have gone over the top of their allotted quota or the county total of $75,000.

These are Lafayette with $6506 and a quota of $6230.

Next is Pittsburg with $3541 collected and a goal of $3300.

Third is Kensington with $2700 and a quota of $2500.

21,683 People In County Get Social Security

Social Security payments to 21,683 persons in Contra Costa County were being made at the close of 1960 under the Federal old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program.

Total benefits to these people were $1,460,000 a month in December, 1960, according to Morgan J. Shea, manager of the Berkeley Social Security office.

"This is an increase of nine per cent in number and 13 per cent in amount over the same time a year before," he sadi.

Payments to a retired worker with no dependents receiving benefits averaged $79.

To a retired couple, both receiving benefits, the average payment was $122. The average for an aged widow was about $58 per month.

Changes in the law since 1935 have brought more than nine out of every 10 people in the United States protection by old-age, survivors, and disability insurance—protection paid for by taxes on employees, their employers, and the self-employed.

Alhambra Clinches Share of Title

Bulldogs Beat Dons, 3-1, For 11th Win of Season

Acalanes, the early season pace-setter in the Foothill Baseball League, fell by the wayside Tuesday as Alhambra cinched at least a tie for the title with a 3-1 win over the Dons.

Prior to yesterday's games, the Bulldogs had an 11-2 record with two games remaining. The season winds up Tuesday.

Acalanes dropped to third place following its loss Tuesday. They now have an 8-5 record. The Bulldogs mastered the Dons in all three meetings this year.

LAS LOMAS moved past the Dons into second place with a 9-4 record after beating Miramonte 4-0 behind Bill Remy's three-hit pitching.

Alhambra has just to win one of its two remaining games to wrap up an undisputed title.

Last Thursday Miramonte pulled a major upset by thumping the Dons, 8-5. Acalanes was only one game off the pace at the time and could have moved into a first place tie with a win over Alhambra Tuesday.

The Mats shattered all Acalanes hopes with the win Thursday.

In Tuesday's game at Acalanes, the Bulldogs collected all three runs in the third inning.

Three errors in a row with two out and two on produced the three runs which proved to be more than enough for starter Bud Nelson of Alhambra.

ACALANES managed only three hits and scored its lone run in the fourth frame when John Paul Jones singled and then scored on a wild throw on a ground ball by Dave deVarona.

San Ramon at Acalanes.
(All games start at 4 p.m.)

Denny Toll went the first three innings for Acalanes, with Tom Strain hurling the final four.

Las Lomas' win over Miramonte Tuesday featured the fine pitching of Remy again. Randy Thaman nicked Remy for two of the three Matador hits.

The Knights scored in the fourth when Gordon Rakow singled in Jim Murphy, who had also singled then added three insurance runs in the sixth.

Las Lomas put together two hits, two walks and two wild pitches for its runs.

In the other Foothill game Tuesday San Ramon outscored lowly Piedmont, 9-4.

The Wolves scored three times in the first inning on a walk, two triples and single. They posted four more in the fourth and a pair in the seventh to round out the afternoon's work.

Last Thursday's games saw Alhambra pound Piedmont, 13-0; Las Lomas beat San Ramon, 5-1, while Miramonte was upsetting Acalanes.

EXHAUST SYSTEM

A car's entire exhaust system from the exhaust manifold to the tail pipe should be carefully checked for rusted-out spots and leaks each time the car is lubricated, says the California State Automobile Association. Even small leaks may allow carbon monoxide to leak into the passenger compartment and cause the driver to become drowsy.

Rams Edge Pirates As CV Ties Devils For First Place

Clayton Valley moved into a tie with Mt. Diablo for the top spot in the Contra Costa Division of the DVAL by defeating the Red Devils, 2-1 Tuesday.

Both teams now have a 9-2 record.

Pleasant Hill moved into a fourth place tie with Pacifica with a 1-0 win over Pittsburg.

The winning run came in the final inning when Bob DeTar drew a walk and then stole second as Jim Spire was striking out on a 3-2 pitch.

The gamble paid big dividends for the Rams as Lennie Cowell followed with a clutch single to right field to win the game.

College Park lost its 11th game in 12 tries as Antioch scored a 10-9 win Tuesday.

In games last Thursday, Pacifica downed College Park, 8-4; Mt. Diablo battered Antioch, 11-3, and Clayton Valley witewashed Pittsburg, 3-0.

DVC Golfers Falter During State Meet

After winning the Coast Conference Golf Tournament last week, the Diablo Valley College team had nothing but woes in the State Junior College Meet Monday at Pleasanton's Castlewood Country Club.

DVC finished eighth in a field of 25 with a 36-hole total of 631 strokes for a four man team.

San Mateo College won the title for the third consecutive year with a score of 606. Phoenix (Arizona) City College finished second with a 611 while San Diego College was third with 612.

Menlo College finished fifth with a score of 620 behind College of the Sequoias which had a 614.

DVC and Menlo tied for top honors in the Coast Conference with 6-1 records, but the Viking golfers bested Menlo in the league tourney last week.

Jeff Busby was DVC's best with a 77-73-150 over the par 70-72 course.

The 120 golfers were split over the two 18-hole laytous at Castlewood in morning and afternoon rounds.

Ken Kirkpatrick of San Diego was the tournament medalist with a 143.

Jack Bouguennec shot a 77-79-156 for the Vikings' second best effort.

Steve Lamphere had a morning round of 76, but shot an afternoon round of 85 for a 161 total.

Don Minor had an 86-78-164 to round out the DVC scoring.

DVC finished the regular season with a 14-2 record.

Beardslee No-Hits Monterey as DVC Sweeps Twin Bill

Ron Beardslee of Diablo Valley College pitched a no-hitter in the second game of a doubleheader with Monterey Peninsula College as the Viking swept the twinbill, 4-2, 6-0 at DVC Saturday.

DENNIS CARTER had hurled a nine-inning three-hitter in the opener for DVC.

The two games were the final ones of the season for DVC. They finished with a 7-7 Coast Conference record and 10-13 overall. The Vikings won five of their last six games after a terrible early season start.

ONLY THREE Monterey players reached first base during Beardslee's seven-inning masterpiece.

The right-hander walked two and struck out six.

It was the first no-hitter turned in by a DVC pitcher in the history of the school.

The Viks could muster only three hits in the nightcap, but one was a two-run homer by Mike Mayne in the fourth inning.

A triple by Paul Chaplik scored two runs in the second.

In the opener, Carter struck out 14 men and walked only one.

Chaplik walked in the first inning, stole second, went to third on a pass ball and then stole home to get the Viks off and winging in the first game.

BILL CHAPPELL batted in two more runs in the third inning with a single to give Carter a three-run cushion.

After Monterey narrowed the score to 3-2, Chappell knocked in his third run of the game with another single in the seventh.

Richard Goggin to Receive Honor

He is one among 19 Bay Area business executives to receive this honor. He is executive assistant, Bank of America.

The certificates wil be presented by Dr. John Bartky, professor of education, Stanford University, and a member of the board of trustees of Golden Gate College.

Interleague Track Meet Won by Pleasant Hill

The Pleasant Hill Rams pulled a major upset last Friday afternoon to win the varsity section of the interleague track meet between the Foothill and Diablo Valley Athletic League. They posted 45½ points. Favorite Piedmont wound up with 43 2/5 points.

A big win in the relay cinched it for the Rams as Piedmont finished fourth when ace sprinter Bill Hefter came up with a pulled muscle.

The meet was highlighted by a number of top performances. One of the best a 4:21.7 mile by Alhambra's Morgan Groth.

DICK GENTRY poured on the steam in the 440 when he was clocked for the win in 49.6 while Clayton Valley's Jim McGrath ran a 1:57.1 in the 880.

Pittsburg's Henry Lawson was the only double winner as he won the broad jump with a leap of 22-4 and came back to win the low hurdles in 20 flat.

Dave Dornsife took a first for Acalanes in the shot with a heave of 55-5½.

Pittsburg walked off with the Bee title as they scored 56½ points well out in front of Antioch and Miramonte. They tied for second with 27 points.

TONY MORGAN of Miramonte was a double winner as he took the 75 in 7.9 and the 150 yard dash with a 15.5.

The next track action takes place at Antioch this afternoon with heats being run at 1 p.m.

This meet will involve the first five place winners in the various qualifying meets held last Friday.

Involved are the place winners in the DVAL-Foothill meet, the Hayward ACAL meet and the Eastbay League.

The top five in each event of today's meet at Antioch will go to the finals of the North Coast Section to be held at the University of California next Saturday.

Gaels Lose Final Game to USF, 5-1

St. Mary's College dropped its final game of the season and wound up in the West Coast Athletic Conference cellar.

University of San Francisco erupted for four runs in the sixth inning to win 5-1 in a game played at Yountsville Veterans' Home Sunday.

St. Mary's finished with a 2-10 league record. The Gaels were 7-19 overall for the season.

USF finished with a 3-7 record, one notch above the Gaels. A St. Mary's win Sunday would have pushed them ahead of the Dons.

San Jose won the WCAC title with a 9-1 record while UOP finished second with an 8-4 record.

ST. MARY'S started sophomore ace Mike Cunningham, the converted catcher, against the Dons Sunday. He had shut out the Dons on two hits last week, but this time he was betrayed by three errors in the sixth inning.

With the score tied 1-1 in the sixth, a USF man reached first on an error. He scored on a triple to put USF ahead 2-1. Two more errors, three walks and a double iced the game for the Dons.

Bob Combatalade took over for Cunningham in the sixth with two out and finished the game.

St. Mary's had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning on two errors, an infield out and a sacrifice.

USF tied the game in the second when Cunningham hit a man and the next batter doubled.

Jim Goedert had one hit in the final game of the season to win the individual hitting trophy with a .328 average.

After suffering through a rather miserable season, the Gaels hope to have a strong team next year. The team is losing only two players through graduation and there are only three juniors on this year's team.

Team Scores—Pittsburg, 56½; Antioch and Miramonte, 27; Pleasant Hill, 25½; Piedmont, 24⅛; Clayton Valley, 21; Mt. Diablo, 11⅓; Albany, Del Valle and Las Lomas, 10; Alhambra and San Ramon, 8; Amador, 5⅓; Livermore, 5; John Swett, 1.

SOFT SPRING SALE
NOW SOME PEOPLE ARE SAYING . . .
"We know about spring — but what's a soft sale?
The answer is easy! Fact of the matter is—that's it—easy. It's our easy pleasant way of having customers buy Chevies. They come to see and drive the new Chevy of their choice (we carry over a hundred in stock) then we get right down to prices—and they're down now, for sure—and we work out a Chevy buy or trade that nets them an extra $50. to $75.—not big money, but worth thinking about. Then we add a big bonus—the area's finest before and after sale service.
